Old Hanger At WAFB Is Damaged

Fire which started in the roof area of one of the old World War II hangers at Whiteman Air Force Base extensively damaged the structure about 2 p.m. Tuesday. The building, known as T-90, is the Whiteman Aero Club hanger and housed club members' planes. No personnel, either military or civilian, were at work in the building at the time and thus no injuries resulted.

The immediate response of well over 100 combat defense personnel to the area resulted in their fine cooperative work in removing all of the aircraft belonging to the Aero Club before any heat from the fire or water used to extinguish the blaze reached the area in which they were parked.

According to Whiteman Information Service, the roof of the building had been worked on by a civilian contractor the Hammond Construction Co., Windsor, however no construction personnel were working at the time the fire started.

As a precautionary measure, fire department officials at Whiteman requested aid from Knob Noster and the Sedalia Fire Departments. Both departments responded, with Knob Noster arriving on the scene within a few minutes, being only a short distance from the base. The large pumper truck from the West Sedalia Fire Station answered the call and in the meantime the East Sedalia Department moved downtown to the headquarters station and other firemen were called to duty.

The Sedalia truck was just (Please turn to Page 8, Col. 1)

Judges Celebrate Tenth Anniversary

The Central Missouri Judges Association celebrated its tenth anniversary in California, Mo., Tuesday and used the occasion to name new officers. E. L. Birdsong, judge of the eastern district, Pettis County, was named to his third term as treasurer.

Other officers named were: Fred Scherer, Monticau County, president; L. L. Williams, Cooper County, secretary; Howard Davis, Callaway County, vice-president; and Birdsong.

The occasion also served as the quarterly meeting of the judges' organization.

'Betterment' Meet Is Open To Public

The Community Betterment meeting which will be held at 7 p.m. Thursday at the Little Theatre, Smith - Cotton High School, is open to the public, and all interested in the program are welcome to attend. Lee DeAtley, Jefferson City, will be the speaker and explain fully the workings and the opportunities of the Missouri Community Betterment Program.

Bill Hall, chairman of the Community Betterment Program for Sedalia, has scheduled the meeting for the reorganizing of the program here and would like those interested in the future of the city to make an effort to be there.

The Business and Professional Women's Club is sponsor for the program.

Want Red Blinker At Grand, 65

Magistrate Court Judge Frank Armstrong, in a letter addressed to William H. Hall, director of the Industrial Development office here, expressed his desire to see the installation of a red warning blinker at the intersection of North Grand and Highway 65.

Judge Armstrong replied to Hall's request for information and data pertaining to the intersection since Hall is going before the Missouri State Highway Commission Dec. 8 with the proposal for a warning blinker.

Armstrong's letter said, "I can assure you that there is a growing demand from the people of Sedalia and the surrounding community that a red blinker light be installed at this intersection."

He added that when Hall is at the Highway Commission hearing, it should be made clear "to the Commission that they are the only Government Agency to do this as this intersection is outside the boundaries of the city of Sedalia."

Armstrong cited the fact that numerous accidents, causing injury and property losses, plus one fatality, have occurred at the intersection. Two open letters to the editor have been written to The Sedalia Democrat-Capital concerning the issue.

Approaching the intersection from either north or south on Grand, there is one sign, on each (Please turn to Page 8, Col. 8)

Membership Drive Kickoff

Annual Chamber Breakfast Group Enjoys Hayob's Talk

Leo Hayob, Marshall, president of the Chamber of Commerce Executives of Missouri, spoke at the kickoff breakfast for the Sedalia Chamber of Commerce membership drive. He stated that the first Chamber of Commerce was organized in France in 1599.

The breakfast was held at the Masonic Temple Wednesday morning.

Hayob noted that in some countries the Chamber of Commerce is supported by taxes. In this country, however, it is financed by those who want to contribute, business and professional people, industries, farmers, property owners and all citizens interested in the community," he said.

The speaker urged the support of the Chamber through membership and volunteer service.

"No doubt," he went on to say, "you have heard much criticism of the Chamber, that the Chamber is trying to keep industry out, and various other comments." Hayob, who is Chamber of Commerce manager for Marshall, said things like that are said about the Marshall Chamber and all other Chambers.

The Chamber of Commerce is an administrative group for the city because it is the only unit in town with a staff. People from all over the world know they can write the Chamber in any town and get an answer receiving the information that they need or want. Many letters are received every day. The image of Chambers of Commerce is good.

There must be a good membership to back the staff. There

Saddle Club Banquet Set For Saturday

Missouri State Saddle Club Association will hold its annual banquet and trophy presentation Saturday at the Agriculture Building, Missouri State Fairgrounds, with the recently-elected officers to be introduced.

The banquet will start about 8 p.m. Officers to be introduced are John Boatright, Marshall, president; Bob Owen, Sedalia, vice-president; and Mrs. Bill Shroul, Green Ridge, secretary-treasurer. Outgoing president is R. H. Hunter, Sedalia.

is very little success without leadership, and the leadership must come from the members. Members should volunteer to help, advance their ideas, attend meetings they are supposed to attend, help in the planning, and have a good program of work.

If you don't know where you are going, he said, any road you take will get you there.

The Chamber, Hayob commented, is the most misconstrued of any organization. It must be a part of every activity of the community, it must let it be known where it stands. It should cooperate with the city administration, for here, too, is a responsibility. Bond issues fail, he said, because the people are not informed on the issues. There must be leadership, confidence and authority.

Hayob said he tells the people of his town if they cannot say something good about the town not to say anything and if they don't like the town to get out.

Sedalia has a fine history, he stated, and every citizen in the city holds the future.

Aerospace Conference Opens Three-Day Meet

COLUMBIA, Mo. (AP) — The National Conference on the Management of Aerospace Programs opened a three-day meeting at the University of Missouri today.

The conference, a national meeting of the American Astronautical Society, is co-sponsored by the University of Missouri space sciences research center and several other of the university's schools.

The meeting is sponsored in cooperation with the Air Force Systems Command and the National Aeronautics Space Administration (NASA).

Some 200 people are attending the meeting, which concerns the business end of space programs.

Presiding over the first session today was George W. Morgenthau, manager of the systems analysis and mathematical science department of the Martin Co., Denver, Colo.

Double Surgery Successful; Operations Called 'Routine'

Growth Free of Cancer, Medical Officials Say

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson underwent double surgery today, a growth removed from his throat was pronounced "clear-cut" free of cancer, and within half an hour after the operation he was writing questions for his doctors on the back of medical forms.

Even as surgeons turned to the repair of a rupture in the existing surgical scar on the President's side, experts were in a room adjacent to the Bethesda Naval Hospital operating theater, examining the polyp clipped from the edge of his right vocal cord.

Their verdict: It was not malignant.

Dr. James C. Cain, long a personal physician to Johnson, said it was "clear-cut" benign.

White House press secretary Bill D. Moyers said Johnson was in the operating room about 53 minutes, from about 6:27 a.m. until 7:20.

Moyers said it took Dr. Wilbur J. Gould 17 minutes to remove the polyp, using forceps inserted through Johnson's mouth.

Then Dr. George A. Hallenbeck, assisted by Dr. James P. Osborn, took over, repairing the incisional hernia that erupted at the site of gall bladder surgery — conducted at the same hospital just 57 weeks ago.

That phase of the operation took 19 minutes.

Moyers said preparatory work and other routine tasks accounted for the remainder of the time in the operating room.

Moyers said Johnson would be drinking liquids later today, and would be able to use his voice when essential. But he said the doctors want voice usage — which Gould blamed for the polyp in the first place — held to a minimum.

And the doctors have told Johnson he can make no formal speeches for four to five weeks. During those weeks, Moyers said, the President will be experiencing discomfort from the swelling in his throat.

For a period of some 90 minutes, Johnson was under the influence of the general anesthetic. During those minutes, Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey was standing by at his apartment in southwest Washington, ready to act if emergency arose.

"No such action was necessary," said Moyers, who telephoned Humphrey with word that the operation was over and was successful.

Among topics up for discussion at the conference are legal structure and practical problems facing county courts; new county budget law; county responsibility toward state and federal programs and resource development and planning, and a look at what lies ahead for county courts.

Ground Fight Flares Anew In Viet Nam

Battles Raging Near Cambodia, In Buffer Zone

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Ground fighting flared anew on widely separated fronts today as American infantrymen battled the Viet Cong in Communist War Zone C near the Cambodian border and U.S. Marines and South Vietnamese troops were locked in heavy fighting with Hanoi regulars near the buffer zone between the two Viet Nams.

U.S. planes, backing up the Americans in both areas, rained blows at the enemy. One Marine helicopter was shot down but there were no casualties. It was the 224th helicopter reported lost in South Viet Nam in the war.

As the Marines fought the North Vietnamese soldiers about 10 miles south of the demilitarized zone, giant B52 bombers struck in embattled Tay Ninh Province 60 miles northwest of Saigon for the seventh straight day, following up 104 strikes on Viet Cong positions by smaller tactical bombers.

The B52 raid at mid-day came about the same time a battalion of 600 to 700 men of the U.S. 1st Infantry Division made contact with a Viet Cong force of unknown size. The outcome of the clash was not yet reported by U.S. headquarters.

To the north, two companies of Marines and two companies of South Vietnamese troops were reported in hard combat with what was believed to be a reinforced company of Hanoi regulars. It was the first heavy contact reported in the area since late September.

The Marines reported killing 14 North Vietnamese and a Marine spokesman said the fighting was continuing tonight. Both U.S. and South Vietnamese casualties were reported light.

Elsewhere, ground action was slack. Bad weather over North Viet Nam once again cut heavily into U.S. air strikes.

Sedalia Will Be Recognized At Washington City Meet

Gary Cooper, executive manager of the Chamber of Commerce, told members of the Chamber board at the meeting Tuesday afternoon at the Farm and Home building, that in a letter from Walla Walla, Wash., Chamber, he had been informed that Sedalia had been selected to be recognized at the annual Chamber banquet of that city.

Each year, the letter stated, some city in the United States was selected to be honored and a table with products manufactured there or items from some industry in the town was set aside. The Missouri Pacific, Cooper went on to say, plans to give favors. About 20 items of Sedalia manufactured products are needed for the exhibit table, he said.

Two amendments to the by-laws were presented by Tom Keating, director of the State National and Local Governmental Affairs Division, and the board voted to mail the proposed amendments to the Chamber membership for voting on them.

Sedalia Bank Board Elects Two Members

Louis R. Hughes, Jr., vice-president and trust officer of the Sedalia Bank & Trust Co., and Donald L. Barnes, Sedalia attorney of the law firm of Lamm, Barnett, Crawford and Barnes, were elected to membership on the Sedalia Bank & Trust Company's board of directors at the November bank board meeting held Tuesday afternoon, according to J. J. McGrath, chairman of the board of directors.

Hughes replaces C. William Mathieson, executive vice-president of Town & Country Shoes, who resigned because of increased business activity which prevented his attendance at board meetings, and Barnes replaces his senior law partner, Donald S. Lamm, who recently resigned, but who will continue to represent the bank as counsel. Lamm was one of the organizers of the bank and was a charter board member.

Mr. and Mrs. Hughes reside at 1315 Maple Lane Drive. He is a native of Benton County where he was a successful farmer and rancher. ## Astronauts To Cape On Trip Home

To Discuss Space Tour In General With Officials

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — Gemini 12's astronauts fly to Cape Kennedy today to begin a long series of discussions on their record-shattering space flight, a mission that opened the gate to the Apollo man-to-the-moon program.

Navy Capt. James A. Lovell Jr. and Air Force Maj. Edwin E. Aldrin Jr. left the aircraft carrier Wasp by plane at 9 a.m. (EST) for a two-hour flight to this spaceport where they started the final Gemini journey last Friday.

The astronauts will remain at Cape Kennedy until Friday or Saturday, discussing their space flight in general terms. Then they will fly to the Manned Spacecraft Center, Houston, Tex., for several days of detailed debriefings.

After that they'll hold a news conference in Houston.

Lovell, 38, and champion space-walker, Aldrin, 36, brought the Gemini program to a triumphant end Tuesday when their space chariot splashed into the Sargasso Sea area of the Atlantic Ocean, about 700 miles southeast of Cape Kennedy.

The landing was another example of the precision America has reached in its man-in-space programs. For the fourth straight time, a Gemini craft landed close enough to its recovery ship for the descent and splashdown to be relayed live by television to U.S. homes.

A helicopter put the spacemen on the deck of the aircraft carrier Wasp 30 minutes later and they strode jauntily across a red carpet, acknowledging the cheers of hundreds of sailors.

Stepping to a microphone, command pilot Lovell said: "We're both happy to end the Gemini program with a success. I hope we can continue to do as well in the space program."

Aldrin added: "We tried real hard to please everybody. I hope we've come half-way there."

Sheppard's Murder Case To the Jury

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—Samuel H. Sheppard's second-degree murder case went to a jury of seven men and five women at 10:30 a.m. today, midway in the fourth week of his retrial.

Common Pleas Judge Francis J. Talty gave the panel a choice of three verdicts in its judgment of Sheppard in the July 4, 1954, bludgeoning slaying of his first wife, Marilyn.

The choices were: guilty of second-degree murder, for which the sentence is life; first-degree manslaughter, carrying a sentence of one to 20 years; or acquittal.

Sheppard, 42, is charged in the indictment with "unlawfully purposefully and maliciously" killing his wife.

Sheppard stared intently at the jury during Judge Talty's 40-minute charge. His second wife, blonde Ariane Tebbenjohanns Sheppard, also listened with obvious interest from the second row of the spectator section.

The jury retired from a courtroom directly across the corridor from the scene of Sheppard's 1954 conviction for second-degree murder. He served nine years in prison before winning a new trial from the U.S. Supreme Court.

Ann Landers

Answers Your Problems

Dear Ann Landers: Your reply to D. J. was ridiculous. It was sure dangerous. That column is sure to be clipped and carried in the wallet of every alley cat in the country. You really gave them the green light when you said, "Unless a boy uses chloroform or a lead pipe the girl is responsible for whatever happens to her."

For twenty years I have been a house mother in a home for unwed mothers. These girls are victims of a weapon far more deadly than chloroform or a lead pipe. They were done in by sweet words of love and empty promises.

It's high time parents taught their sons that girls are not playthings to be used for pleasure, then cast aside if something goes wrong. Every young man should be taught that a decent boy is responsible for his girl.

When your column was passed around in the home today several of the expectant mothers became depressed because you placed all the blame on them. This letter is to let you know that I am cancelling the subscription of the newspaper that prints your column. — MT. CARMEL, PENNA., HOUSE MOTHER

Dear House Mother: Thank you for expressing your point of view. Since you've cancelled your subscription, I hope someone shows you my reply. You are right when you say a decent boy should be responsible for his girl. But not all boys are decent. Moreover, out-of-wedlock pregnancies involve more than decency. There are such factors as permissive parents, sexy movies, liquor, unchaperoned parties, midnight beach blasts and going steady.

Most 16-year-old boys are not thinking about love and marriage. The yare thinking about sex. The juices are flowing and they are out looking. The girl is indeed responsible for whatever happens to her because unfortunately, many boys will take whatever they can talk a girl into. She'd better know it and conduct herself accordingly.

Dear Ann Landers: Our nine-year-old daughter entered a coloring contest — not once but several times. She gave the names and addresses of five friends in an effort to win at least one of the prizes. She signed her cousin Wendy's name to one of the pictures and it won first place. The prize was $100 and a TV appearance.

When Wendy's mother called to tell us about the mysterious windfall, I suspected what had happened and I confronted Debbie. She admitted signing Wendy's name. I told her the whole thing was dishonest, that she could not accept the money and that she certainly could not appear on TV as somebody else. Wendy's parents insist that their daughter is entitled to the money because her name is on the check.

Debbie has been eating off the mantle for two days. I have let her know she did a terrible thing. But is she really wrong to be mad about her cousin taking the prize money? I've made it clear to Debbie that she can't have it, and I want it to go to charity. What do you think? —HOLLYWOOD

Dear Hollywood: Debbie should tell the officials she faked the signature and ask them to donate the check to charity. They might solve the problem for you by canceling payment on the check.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Clerk And Attorney Ruled Office Holders

COLUMBUS, Kan. (AP)—District Court Judge William P. Meek Monday ruled that Mrs. Mavis Williams is legally the Galena, Kan., city clerk, William Shaw is city attorney and they are to be paid back salaries.

Six members of the 10-member Galena City Council tried to fire Mrs. Williams and Shaw, and appoint Mrs. Betty Chestnut as Mrs. Williams' replacement.

Mrs. Williams defied the councilmen and stayed in her office night and day for weeks.

Judge Meek's order voided ordinances firing Mrs. Williams and Shaw and provided for an audit of city accounts by the Thomas Cusack accounting firm of Joplin.

St. Louis Fire Demands Extra Firemen Call

ST. LOUIS (AP)—A fire in a West St. Louis industrial building Monday night forced a call-up of off-duty firefighters.

Fire Chief Joseph Findley, said that after the fire at the two-story brick building housing Electro Devices, Inc., reached general alarm proportions, only a skeleton staff was left to protect the rest of the city.

One wall and the roof of the building collapsed while firemen pumped streams of water into the building. There were no injuries reported.

Findley estimated damages to the building and two others which suffered smoke and water damage at about $100,000. There was no immediate estimate of damage to the contents.

'Rupert Rat' Honored By Manufacturer

LONDON (AP) —Five prosperous British businessmen scheduled a champagne party yesterday in honor of Rupert the Rat.

"That common gray rat saved us from bankruptcy," said David James, 47. "We are drinking to a fine memory."

Things looked bleak in 1951 for Beanstalk Shelving Ltd., operating from one room and making no progress in selling its special shelves for shops.

James, the company's founder, sat alone at his desk one evening full of gloomy thoughts.

"When Rupert — as we came to call him — appeared at his rat hole, I was in no mood for that kind of company," James recalled.

"I picked up a newspaper, took a swipe at him and missed. Rupert scuttled back into the hole and was never seen again."

"But as I stopped to pick up the newspaper my eye was caught by a personal advertisement by an Australian importer who was looking for a novel product in Britain."

James is sure he would never have spotted the ad if he hadn't been trying to clobber Rupert.

"The next day I called on the Australian and he gave me an order worth $112,000 on the spot," he said.

"From then on we never looked back. Now we have a factory covering 60,000 square feet, employ 380 people and export all over the world."

James planned the champagne party with his four partners at the room where they started in Chichester. He announced the event with an "in memoriam" notice in the Times of London. It said: "Rupert, R.I.P. No flowers or cheese, by request."

Dress Designer Has Something For Everybody

By JEAN SPRAIN WILSON
AP Fashion Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Like a smart politician John Moore, the lanky Texan who designed Lady Bird Johnson's inaugural gown, had a little something for everybody in his spring collection Monday.

For women with figure faults to hide, he had floaty shirt dresses and shifts. For women with curves worth emphasizing, he had costumes with more ins and outs than a legal form.

He had crisp piquo vests, high-waisted dresses, perky bows, nipped-in bodices and bouncy ruffled skirts, smocks, and pinafores for the very young — of course every woman is young.

For the young mother, the blonde, wavy-haired lad created side draped, wrap-around dresses, or elegant columns of wool with rain - catcher, standaway necklines.

Every generation, even young great-grandmothers would have looked great in those sweeping, floor-length Lady Macbeth coats made from dozens of yards of crusty linen.

Always a little nostalgic about the 30s, Moore was less so this time. But he did toss in a few bias cuts, and some handkerchief pointed, bugle-beaded dresses to please those who expect him to live up to his reputation.

What Moore did not have is print dresses, although this is the big, splashy year for them. He settled for contrasting colors, using piping, wide bands, or pattern pieces.

First Negro Mayor For Michigan City

FLINT, Mich. (AP) — Floyd J. McCree, a soft-spoken foundry foreman, is the first Negro mayor of this southeast Michigan industrial city of 200,000.

He was elected Monday night at the City Commission meeting where he went to begin a fifth term as 3rd Ward commissioner.

McCree said that he never dreamed he would be mayor of any city, let alone one as big as Flint.

McCree says he is moderate on racial issues. He has in the past spoken against alleged police brutality in Flint, but has praised the work of the police department on other occasions. He is a strong advocate of open housing and equal employment opportunities.

McCree has his own definition of "black power," the term used by Stokely Carmichael, chairman of the Student Non-violent Coordinating Committee.

McCree says the racial climate in Flint is good but he is concerned with issues other than those stemming from race.

In his race for re-election, fluoridation of the water supply was the major issue.

Under the city charter, the mayor's duties are limited to chairing the City Commission, a legislative body, and to appointing advisory commissions. A city manager handles most of the administrative duties.

Until he was made a foreman two years ago, McCree worked on an assembly line in the General Motors Buick Division foundry. He lives in Flint with his wife and four children.

People In The News

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Mayor Samuel W. Yorty of Los Angeles says that he really wasn't wagging with the mayor of Baltimore over the World Series — but he'll pay up anyhow.

Yorty said Monday he was sending Mayor Theodore R. McKeldin some samples of California wine as a "goodwill gesture."

McKeldin had said that he and Yorty bet a "barrel of world-famous succulent Chesapeake Bay oysters for any California product" on the World Series. But, said Yorty, local law prohibits betting on the series.

The Baltimore Orioles beat the Los Angeles Dodgers four straight games in the series.

NEW YORK (AP)—Former U.S. Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach told the annual dinner of the YMCA of Greater New York Monday night that lawlessness of youth is the largest, most stubborn and fastest growing source of crime in the nation.

"It could easily accelerate into national tragedy," Katzenbach warned. He said one of every six boys under 18 has been taken to juvenile court for at least one offense.

Katzenbach said he was speaking as chairman of the President's Commission on Crime and the Administration of Justice and as former attorney general. He recently was named undersecretary of state.

And Minister Discuss War Pope Paul IV

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Foreign Minister Paul Martin of Canada met today with Pope Paul VI to discuss Viet Nam peace prospects and a new cease-fire to halt the fighting at Christmas time.

Martin came to the Vatican after closing out the official phase of his three-nation European tour in a final conference with Italian Foreign Minister Amintore Fanfani.

Informants said Martin gave the Pope a full report on the Viet Nam soundings he had with government officials in Poland and the Soviet Union. Poland, with Canada and India, is a member of the International Control Commission for Viet Nam.

Just two days before Martin arrived in Rome Sunday, the Vatican indicated that Pope Paul was ready to make another appeal for a Christmas cease-fire in Viet Nam. He made such an appeal last year. It was followed by a pause in the fighting that the Pope hoped would result in an extended truce.

Martin spent 30 minutes with Pope Paul.

The Vatican press office said the Pope and Martin discussed world peace problems and "particularly the situation in Viet Nam."

Children's Therapy Center Foundation for a New Life

"I wish there was something I could do to help in the drive," James Rennison said, lifting his head as best he could to look up at someone at the Children's Therapy Center. "Isn't there something I can do to help?"

"There is something you can do," he was told, "you can staple some of the literature."

And so, when anyone receives literature on the Children's Therapy Center that has been stapled or punched together, during the drive which will be Nov. 19 and 20, they may know that this was done by a brilliant little boy in a wheelchair who wanted to help because the Therapy Center means so much to him. It means that here he is receiving his education foundation that he can add to later in life to make a living with his mind. It means that he is receiving therapy that has brought his head that, when he came was in a bowed position, to a place that he can look straight and even up a bit now at people and things. It means that he is able to walk, with help, and use his hands, he could not do several years ago when he first went to the Center.

Therapy is working miracles for James Rennison and other children at the Center, therapy that is paid for with dollars given by the people of this area during the annual drives each November.

There will be 600 people canvassing for the drive on Saturday, Nov. 19 and there will be call-backs on Sunday, Nov. 20, to homes where there was no response on Saturday. With those calls on Sunday will be left the little notes, "Sorry we missed you" and envelopes to mail in the contributions, if there is still no answer.

Yes, there will be 600 people working on that drive, but none has worked harder than James, who took the literature home to staple and punch together, because he realizes exactly what the drive means to him—everything.

And at this Thanksgiving time, he is thankful for an opportunity to help and show his appreciation.

Orbiter Expected To Shoot Moon Site

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Lunar Orbiter 2 is scheduled to lower its orbit this afternoon so its cameras can zero in on sites where the United States may land men on the moon.

Spokesmen at Pasadena's Jet Propulsion Laboratory said Monday the cameras will take 378 pictures over a week, beginning next Friday, on sweeps 28 miles above the moon's surface.

The 800-pound spacecraft will be maneuvered by radio signal from a U.S. tracking station in an attempt to give scientists the most exact view so far of 13 potential Apollo astronaut landing sites.

'CBS Report' Takes Look At US Unions

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The "CBS Reports" program, Tuesday night took a long, balanced look at the labor movement, pointing out its great contributions over the years—elimination of child labor, increased wages and reduced working hours, vacations, relief time, job seniority and pensions. It considered the bloody strife of the organizing years when unions were resisted violently by management.

The program contrasted these struggles with the situation today when union power has grown to a point where "one union can bring most of the nation's airlines to a halt with hardly any more reprisal than a growl from Congress."

Current union problems were not ignored — automation, loss of jobs, alienation of public opinion, hostile legislation. The program noted that of a work force of 77 million Americans, only 17 million belong to unions.

Touched upon were charges of corruption in some unions and charges of failure to integrate racially. Herbert Hill of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People said that "the rate of racial integration in the major skilled craft unions of the AFL-CIO is slower than the rate of integration of Negro children into the public schools of Mississippi and Alabama."

Most interesting was the portion devoted to showing the struggle over the past year to form a union for migrant agricultural workers in the West — a little union without the professional skills of the giants, but with all the fire and earnestness that marked the early years of the auto workers and the steel workers.

It was an extremely effective presentation, well - balanced, that crowded a lot into a short period.

minute of school. Between times they go as they are scheduled for the therapy they need, but they are receiving their education in the classroom. Those who visit there only now and then see improvement in the children that take place from visit to visit.

WHAT IT IS—What is occupational therapy? It is learning to coordinate. To use little hands to do things that can be done only by practice. In the picture is Willie Jackson making squares by drawing from one big dot to the other.

"One more square" said Mrs. Carolyn McAbie, occupational therapist at the Center, after Willie had completed three squares, and once more the four straight lines completed the last big square.

BUSY PLACE—The room where the older children are being taught by Mrs. Lula Carson, assisted by Mrs. Lalla Whitley, pictured with the group is always a busy and interesting place. Some of the children are in wheel chairs, they are different ages, and they are studying different things, but they enjoy every Woody has a speech problem but one of these days he hopes to be able to say words as they should be pronounced. It is a little hard now, but he is learning.

At Tuesday Meeting

Courtesy Is Consideration, Stohr Tells Optimist Club

Courtesy is an act of consideration, Trooper Pete Stohr, speaker at the Optimist Club of which he is a member, said Tuesday noon as he addressed members of the club, and their guests, six of whom were Pettis County high school students who were chosen as the best drivers in their schools.

He congratulated these young people, Judy Alley, LaMonte; Cheri Walz, Green Ridge; Gertrude Hazel, Sacred Heart; Kathy Page, Smithton, Tommy Klein, Northwest and Rusty Johnson, Smith-Cotton, who had, through courtesy and good judgment, earned the honor of best drivers in their respective schools.

Safety and courteous driving go hand in hand, said Trooper Stohr. You may have the right of way by law but courtesy could prevent an accident. Safe drivers, he went on to say, always slow down for bad weather and children.

Laws, Trooper Stohr explained, were made for the protection of the people and they should have respect for the law enforcement officers who are serving the people when they enforce the laws. Children, he went on to say, should be taught not only to obey the laws but to respect the officers.

Teenagers, regardless to what the records show, are better drivers than older people because their reflexes are better, their eye sight is better, and they have driver's training in high school. The two things that cause accidents among the teenagers are speeding and following too close.

The accidents of older people are running stop lights and failing to yield the right of way.

US Trains Thai Copter Pilots As Self Defense

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States is training a number of officers from Thailand as helicopter pilots who can return home to teach Thai servicemen how to operate choppers against Communist forces.

Secretary of defense Robert S. McNamara recently rejected a suggestion by U. S. Ambassador Graham A. Martin to send American helicopter companies to Thailand to contain any possible insurrection.

Communists in the northeastern corner of the country have long been a problem to Thailand, an ally of the United States in its Southeast Asian operations.

Instead of committing Americans to what officials now consider a relatively small but nevertheless menacing problem in Thailand, the United States is helping the Thai government lay the foundations for a helicopter corps of its own.

The United States has provided Thailand with 25 choppers and is promising more under the military aid program. But Thailand only this year set up a helicopter training school and it takes weeks for an individual to learn even the basics of helicopter operations.

Meanwhile, Thai personnel are undergoing training at two U. S. bases — Ft. Wolters, Tex., and Ft. Rucker, Ala.

Pilot Training Decision Goes To McNamara

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara faces a series of key decisions in the next few weeks on Army, Navy, and Air Force requests for huge increases in pilot training next year.

The Army, now training 325 pilots a month, is seeking the biggest boost. It wants Defense Department approval to train 800 pilots monthly by June 1968. To do so, sources said, it would have to add a fourth training base.

The Navy, now building up to a monthly training output of 180 pilots, is seeking to expand its present facilities and train 218 pilots monthly next year.

The Air Force is in the tightest bind, training about 235 pilots and utilizing its eight training bases to capacity. It has asked for two more training bases.

With most budget requests for fiscal 1968 — which begins next July 1 — now in the decision-making process, Pentagon officials are reluctant to predict what McNamara will do. But some sources have indicated that most of the services' requests will be approved.

The services all report that increased Viet Nam air needs have severely strained their supply of combat pilots.

Each has taken steps to ease the shortage: The Army has ordered some pilots back to Viet Nam for second 12-month tours of duty; the Navy has involuntarily extended the duty of hundreds of fliers for one year; and the Air Force has sharply

Flaming Plane Crash Sets Off Inquiry

HOMESTEAD, Fla. (AP) — An investigation continued today into the flaming crash of a pair of fighter jets at Homestead Air Force Base.

The two pilots killed were Maj. Alvah M. Cole Jr., 41, of Norfolk, Va., and 1st Lt. David A. Siggins, 23, of Whippany, N.Y.

The crash occurred when one plane dropped on top of the other, sending burning wreckage a half-mile down the main runway.

curtailed the number of officers eligible for study at any of its advanced training schools.

All of the services are meeting their combat requirements in Viet Nam.

PIN-WORMS A FAMILY AFFAIR

Fidgeting, nose-picking, a tormenting rectal itch are often telltale signs of Pin-Worms, ugly parasites that medical experts say infect 1 out of every 3 persons examined. Entire families may be victims and not know it.

To get rid of Pin-Worms, they must be killed in the large intestine where they live and multiply. That's exactly what Jayne's P-W tablets do... and here's how they do it:

First—a scientific coating carries the tablets into the bowels before they dissolve. Then—Jayne's modern, medically-approved ingredient goes right to work—kills Pin-Worms quickly and easily.

Don't take chances with dangerous, highly contagious Pin-Worms which infect entire families. Get genuine Jayne's P-W Vermifuge... small, easy-to-take tablets... special sizes for children and adults.

Mayes presented Carl Yates, president, who introduced State Senator John C. Ryan, Mayor Ralph Walker, and Gary Cooper, executive manager of the Chamber, and Mrs. Cooper.

Cooper then introduced Welden Gibson, Tulsa, Okla., with the United States Chamber of Commerce.

Don Rains, membership chairman, thanked all who had helped him, and gave special recognition to Mrs. Vivian Warren, office manager for the Chamber.

The entertainment was again one that pleased the audience with Jim Edwards at the piano and Carl Opp with his accordion.

Edwards also sang and included in his solos was his own composition, "The Sedalia Song."

At the end of the breakfast the door prizes which had been secured from local merchants by Jim Reed, public relations chairman, were given out, with Mayes drawing the name of R. L. Settles distributing them to the winners.

reaching Dresden when Sedalia police received a radio message from Knob Noster informing them the fire was under control. The Sedalia police in turn notified the fire truck and it turned around at Dresden and returned to Sedalia.

The hanger, completely built of wood, was used to house C-47 planes during World War II, and since that time these older hangers have been used mostly for storage. During a period of time when the base was inactive, many farmers used the large buildings to store grain.

Extensive damage resulted to the roof and one wall of the hanger, but Whiteman firemen worked fast and quickly had the flames under control before they could spread to other buildings in the area, and at a minimum of loss.

Italy Flood
The Worst
In History

FLORENCE, Italy (AP) — In the early hours of Nov. 4 Italy — often called the fragile country because of its susceptibility to natural disaster — was hit by the worst flooding in its history.

Four major rivers — the Arno, the Adige, the Tagliamento and the Po — were pushed over their banks by heavy rains and, with phenomenally high tides from the Adriatic Sea and overflows from scores of streams, inundated a third of the nation.

The disaster swept and swirled through central and north Italy from the Dolomite Alps north of Venice to the southern edge of Tuscany south of Florence.

Florence and Venice, unique in their own ways and among the brightest jewels in the diadem of Italian cities, were badly damaged.

More than 100 persons were known to have perished; the final toll may reach 300.

One of the country's richest agricultural heartlands was devastated. Industries and commerce in the disaster area were stopped.

Irreplaceable art works were damaged. Some of the greatest architectural splendors of Western civilization were harmed.

The Italian economy, just emerging from its recession of two years ago, suffered a major setback.

It was a disaster without precedent in modern Italy. Even now, nearly two weeks later, the full extent of the catastrophe is not yet clear.

The damage to the nation — and to the world — was almost incalculable.

On Nov. 9 the Italian government ordered an emergency appropriation of 47 billion lire — $7.52 million — to help the flood victims. The Cabinet set a 10 lire — 1.6 cents — a liter — quart — gasoline tax designed to bring in $500 million a year through December 1968.

This was a first measure only.

For the great long-range task of rebuilding the economy of the stricken zones, it was expected that the government might have to impose new taxes on tobacco, alcoholic beverages and other consumer items and perhaps even float a national loan.

Giving his first parliamentary report on the disaster, Premier Aldo Moro declared Nov. 11 that the floods had wiped out the economic gains achieved since the recession. He called for a period of national austerity.

He said that it was still impossible accurately to assess the overall cost of the floods. Estimates ran up to $2.5 billion, more than a fourth of the national budget.

Most industry in the stricken areas was knocked out of operation. Production of Venetian glass and lace was virtually destroyed. An estimated 80 percent of the livestock in Tuscany, livestock center of Italy, was reported destroyed along with thousands of acres of Chianti vineyards that produce Italy's most famous exported wine.

About 6,000 shops in Florence and an equal number in Venice were wrecked. Hotels and restaurants were washed out. A severe drop in income from tourism was expected.

The art loss brought sadness to experts the world over. Some 1,300 masterpieces were damaged by water and mud in Florence, including nearly 900 works of the first rank.

Dr. Ugo Proccacci, superintendent of Florentine Galleries, estimates it will take 20 years or more to repair the art that can be restored.

3, for which entries are coming in, and of plans for the Christmas Season.

In an effort to please some of the members of the Chamber, Cooper, when asked if he was calling on the membership, replied that he had been spending two and three hours a day on this and had visited only about 25 percent of the membership.

Bill Hall, industrial director, told of the Community Betterment meeting to be held at the Little Theater at 7 p.m. Thursday. This is an open meeting.

Richard Parkhurst, director of the Public Relations division, then commented that he had seen this presentation and that it is a real education.

Attending the board meeting which was presided over by Carl Yates president, were Dick Monsees, first vice-president; Richard A. Fitzwilliam, second vice-president; Gary Cooper, executive manager; Vivian E. Warren, treasurer; C. Neil Chapman, Sr.; Dr. A. J. Campbell, K. A. Klammert, Richard Parkhurst, Robert Mason, Tom Keating, Mike O'Connor, Harry Kall and Herb Taylor, directors.

Accidents

A hit-and-run accident occurred on the Broadway Lanes Parking Lot at 11:02 a.m. Tuesday.

A 1966 Rambler, parked on the lot by Jess D. Hamby, 1803 South Montgomery, was damaged in the left side.

Police are investigating.

A two-car collision occurred on the parking lot of Bings No. 2, Broadway and Emmett, at 5:28 p.m. Tuesday.

Involved were a 1966 Chevrolet one-half ton truck, being backed south on the lot by Robert Lee Bryson, 30, Route 2, and a 1966 Pontiac, being backed east on the lot by Anna Belle Bohlken, 49, Route 2.

Damaged was the right side of the Pontiac.

Three students at Central Missouri State College from Stover, escaped serious injury in a one car accident about 10:50 p.m. Tuesday on State Route 127 about four miles south of LaMonte. They were enroute to Warrensburg from Green Ridge, where they watched the Green Ridge and Stover high school basketball game.

They were Ted William Koester, 18, Route 1, Stover, driver of the automobile; Ed Eddinger, 18, Stover, a passenger who received a laceration over the right eye and an injury to the right hip; and Preston Moore, 18, Stover, who received two slight lacerations on the back of his head. Koester was not injured.

According to State Trooper William Southwick, of the State Patrol, the three were in a 1963 Mercury hardtop and headed north on Highway 127 and failed to make the first curve north of Pettis County Route Y. The car skidded about 66 feet on the highway and traveled an additional 165 feet on the shoulder, across a area between the highway and the Main Street road, crossed the road and went over an embankment, overturning on its top.

The automobile was demolished, according to Southwick. It was towed to Sedalia by Bacon's wrecker.

At the Bothwell Hospital, where the three boys were taken by Trooper Southwick, Dr. Donald Eldenburg attended the two injured youths.

TV Artists
Negotiators
Broken Off

NEW YORK (AP) — Negotiators for the broadcasting networks and two unions representing 36,000 performers, newsmen and announcers broke off talks early today after a 16-hour session that extended beyond a Tuesday midnight deadline for a threatened strike. The strike was not called immediately.

Kenneth Groot, executive secretary of the New York local of the American Federation of Television and Radio Artists — AFTRA, said after the talks were suspended at 4:15 a.m. that no further meetings had been scheduled.

He said a group of AFTRA executives were meeting to decide whether to strike.

Groot declined to say whether a strike was likely or when it might be called.

There was no immediate word on the progress of the talks.

The unions are seeking higher fees and minimum salaries for their members.

Industry negotiators declined comment.

Network sources in New York indicated that a walkout by the AFTRA and the Screen Actors Guild would curtail live programming. They said, however, that filmed and taped shows would allow the networks to stay on the air indefinitely.

Employees of independent radio and television stations would not be affected by a strike.

One network spokesman said, "The major casualty would be the soap operas."

Network programs such as the "Tonight" show and the Ed Sullivan show would have to use taped rebroadcasts of earlier programs.

A strike also would mean that the networks' major evening newscasts would go on the air without such familiar names as Walter Cronkite, Chet Huntley and David Brinkley, and Peter Jennings. Network executives would take over the news programs.

AFTRA has a membership of 17,500 and represents almost everyone who appears before a microphone and all performers on live or taped television shows or commercials.

The Screen Actors Guild, with 18,500 members, is negotiating for all performers on filmed television commercials.

The networks involved are the Columbia Broadcasting System, the National Broadcasting Co., and the American Broadcasting Co., radio-TV networks, and the Mutual Broadcasting System, a radio network.

Both the AFL-CIO unions are seeking a three-year contract with an increase from $105 to $130 in the daily rate paid to performers on television commercials.

Newspaper Defends Associated Press

CHICAGO (AP) — The Chicago Tribune intervened Tuesday before the U.S. Supreme Court in support of an appeal by The Associated Press from a libel verdict awarded by a jury in Gen. Edwin A. Walker.

The AP is appealing a $500,000 verdict awarded by a jury in Fort Worth, Tex., to Walker who said he was libeled by reports of his activities during riots at the University of Mississippi in 1962. The Chicago Tribune intervened as a friend of the court.

An appearance on behalf of the Tribune Company was filed with the clerk of the Supreme Court in Washington by its attorneys.

W. D. Maxwell, editor of the Tribune, said the Tribune is appearing in support of the AP because it regards the attempt by Walker to collect damages for the on-the-spot news report of the Mississippi riots as a grave threat to freedom of the press.

at $144.50, from the above address.

Beattie Staats, 316 South Hancock, paid $18 Tuesday for what she was told was a premium due on an insurance policy, and then, when the money was gone, discovered she didn't own a policy with the firm named.

She notified Sedalia police, who are now looking for two men who presented themselves as insurance agents. The police "complaint report" didn't give a description of the two men.

Dean Winfrey, 1828 South Carr, told police Tuesday about $371 in household goods had been stolen from his home. About three hours later he called back and informed police the items were not stolen, but had been moved by his wife. The articles included a bedroom suite, a baby bed and springs, a vacuum cleaner, electric clock, coffee maker, cookware, dishes, record player and records and two pairs of window drapes. The police report didn't say where the articles had been taken.

Chief of Police
Fined For Violation

MARYVILLE, Mo. (AP) — Maryville Chief of Police David Archer was fined $25 Tuesday in magistrate court on a game law violation.

Archer entered a plea of guilty to a charge of failing to place a state permit tag on a deer he had shot.

Post Office
Strained By
ZIP Requests

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Post Office, its facilities strained by a record flow of pre-Christmas mail, is struggling to answer millions of requests for ZIP code information — the result of last month's national ZIP Code Week promotion.

During the week of Oct. 10-15 the Post Office distributed about 95 million post cards — called ZIP-a-lists — to nearly every household in the nation.

Each card had 13 spaces for addresses. The Householder could list the addresses of those with whom he frequently corresponds and returns the cards to local post offices. There, clerks would fill in the ZIP code for each address and mail the cards back to the householder.

Although postal officials say they have no idea how many of these cards were returned to local post offices for completion, some postmasters are reporting dates of return from 5 to 60 percent and higher. Cards still are coming in.

Assuming only a 20 percent average, that's 19 million post cards. Since a postal spokesman estimates cards are averaging 10 addresses each, that means postal clerks are looking up about 190 million ZIP code numbers and filling in that many blanks.

The ZIP code work comes on the heels of a just-settled postal crisis in which at least one principal post office — in Chicago — was practically paralyzed with a giant backlog of undelivered mail.

Since then, the department has hired 150,000 extra Christmas workers one month early — at a cost of about $30 million — to help keep the mails flowing.

While the Post Office will not say how much it is costing to answer all the ZIP code requests — or to promote the ZIP code, for that matter — officials are convinced that whatever the cost it's worth it.

side, saying "Stop Ahead." On the Highway 65 section, however, there is no indication, either east or west, that an intersection is near.

Closing of a roadway leading south off Highway 65 because of construction has filtered additional traffic through the Grand Ave. approach. Rather than diminishing, the flow of traffic at the intersection has increased markedly since it was opened for public use.

It has been noted that no street light, warning light or any other device is available to give highway travelers approaching the intersection any inkling it is there. Drivers headed west on Highway 65 at that point face an additional hazard since they top the crest of a hill and are at the intersection in a very short span of time.

Armstrong said his court experience included cases arising from at least 25-30 accidents which had occurred at that point. He also told Hall, "... I wrote the State Highway Department at Jefferson City suggesting to them that they place a red blinker light there. In due time they replied to my letter and told me that they did not believe a blinker light was necessary."

S-C Tigers Place Two Men On All-Star Team In CMC

Smith-Cotton High School Tigers placed two men on the Central Missouri Conference All-Star football squad, while Columbia Hickman Kewpies placed seven and the Jefferson City Jays five. Columbia won the top Championship honors of the CMC, undefeated by any conference team, while the Jays placed second. Third place Hannibal won three berths, fifth place Rolla took four positions, while Mexico in the cellar on the circuit failed to place any player on the All-Star squad.

From the Smith-Cotton Tigers, who placed fourth in the league, Jim Vinson, halfback and end; Ron Rees, tackle, were selected. Both these players were co-captains during the season. Both are seniors.

Greer Thinks He Has Proper 'Thank You' Now

NEW YORK (AP) — Hal Greer has been practicing six years to give Coach Alex Hannum a proper thank you. Now, with some help from his Philadelphia 76er teammates, he thinks he has it.

"We beat Boston by only one game last year, but lost the playoffs," Greer says. "We figure we ought to win it by seven games this season and take the playoffs, too."

If Greer is right, and the 76ers do end the Celtics' eight-year reign over the National Basketball Association, what better thank you could Hannum get?

The way Greer and his teammates looked Tuesday night and thus far this season, Greer's thoughts might come as true as his jump shot.

The 76er guard, who got his first starting chance in the NBA from Hannum six years ago with Syracuse, dropped in 33 points as Philadelphia raced to a 92-60 lead and then watched reserves hang on for a 113-109 victory over the New York Knicks.

In the only other game, at St. Louis, the Hawks pulled away from Chicago in the final minutes for a 107-99 victory behind Lennie Wilkens' 30 points.

Because Of Defense

Sure Notre Dame Will Win Contest

NEW YORK (AP) — Notre Dame will defeat Michigan State Saturday in college football's Game of the Decade — and the Irish defense will be responsible.

The names of the Notre Dame passing combination of Terry Hanratty to Jim Seymour plus the two running backs, Nick Eddy and Larry Conjar, virtually have become household names during the season with its eight straight victories.

But who knows the names of the defensive unit that blanketed five of those opponents and allowed the other three foes only a total of four touchdowns?

This is the initial Notre Dame foursome which will be there to greet any Michigan State ball carrier: Kevin Hardy, 270 pounds, and Pete Duranko, 240, at the tackles, and Allen Page, 240, and Tom Rhoads, 220, at ends.

Michigan State's defense is keyed to Bubba Smith, the end who towers 6-7 and weighs 290. Sometimes he shifts to middle guard but no matter where he is, the opposition doesn't try to annoy him. The Spartan attack, which has scored the points that has meant nine successive triumphs, has Bob Apisa doing

Dickey's Talent Shows Results For Arkansas Gridsters

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Sophomore tailback David Dickey spent most of Arkansas' first six games as a bench warmer, but since then he's been hotter than the proverbial pistol.

Dickey fired a big shot last Saturday at Arkansas' prime football target — the Cotton Bowl — by leading the sixth-ranked Razorbacks to a 22-0 victory over Southern Methodist.

For his efforts — a Southwest Conference record 38 carries for 133 yards, including two last period touchdown plunges — the 6-foot-1, 204-pounder from Palestine, Tex., was named today as The Associated Press College Back of the Week.

Dickey's rushing yardage against SMU was 17 yards more than the Mustangs gained in 37 carries. The victory gave Arkansas a 5-1 conference record and made it the favorite for the host spot in the Cotton Bowl.

Mineral Water Bowl Contestants Named

EXCELSIOR SPRINGS, Mo. (AP)—Adams State College, of Alamosa, Colo., and Springfield, Mo., State will meet in the Mineral Water Bowl football game Nov. 26 in Excelsior Springs. Adams State accepted the bid Tuesday, Springfield State last Saturday. Both teams have 7-2 records. It will be the second time each school has been represented in the Mineral Water Bowl. Adams State edged Northern Illinois 23-20 in 1962 and Springfield State lost to Northern Illinois 21-14 in 1963.

Hunter And Geohegan Will Battle In Semi-Final Meet

Tonight there will be action in the wrestling ring when Ricky Hunter and Tim Geohegan tangle in the semi-final event supporting the feature which will see The Viking and Hollywood's tough boy Jack Donovan tangling again. These two main events will be supported by a match between Bob Brown and Lee Henning, and a midge girls' match between Diamond Lil and Darling Dagmar.

Hunter has made an impressive Midlands bow and presently is the talk of the area mat circles. His blistering speed, plus his agility with a wide variety of holds, has stamped him title caliber from his first showing in this section.

In fact, the 28-year-old, who hails from San Francisco, has never had to go the distance in any of his matches since coming to this section two weeks ago. His fastest pin to date has been achieved in seven minutes and so stunned his opponent he's still complaining that Ricky must have tricked him.

But he'll be running up against a smart and fast wrestler in Tim Geohegan. It is doubtful his receptive tactics will cause Tim, who has faced every type of wrestler in his mat experience, any confusion.

Veteran Lee "Bulldog" Henning is to be reckoned with and Bad Boy Bob Brown, much younger, isn't going to pull some

Titlests Trailing This Year

NEW YORK (AP) — Unless Dave Parks of San Francisco starts grabbing passes at twice his current rate there might not be one individual champion retaining his title in the National Football League this year.

The big one—the rushing crown—will be worn by someone else because of Jimmy Brown's retirement, but even in other statistical departments the 1965 titlests are way back of the current leaders or already out of the race.

Right now the rushing title is up for grabs among Dick Bass of Los Angeles, Cleveland's Leroy Kelly and Gale Sayers of Chicago, who have gained 744, 730 and 715 yards in that order.

Last year's passing leader, John Brodie, is down in seventh place with Bart Starr of Green Bay No. 1, followed by Washington's Sonny Jurgensen and Don Meredith of Dallas.

Parks, who missed two games, still is a threat in receiving, although he currently is in 10th place, 16 catches behind front-running Pat Studstill of Detroit who has grabbed 53 passes.

Kelly, last year's punt return leader, is fourth in that department this season with rookie Johnny Roland of St. Louis holding the lead with a 12.3 average. Bobby Boyd of Baltimore, last year's interception leader, is 10th with four compared to nine for Larry Wilson of St. Louis.

In Big Eight Circuit

Wachholtz, Jones, Barney Are Nearing League Marks

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Safety Larry Wachholtz of Nebraska, end Dave Jones of Kansas State and end Eppie Barney of Iowa State are closing in on Big Eight football one-season records in the biggest record book revision in some time.

In addition, quarterbacks Tim Van Galder of Iowa State and Bob Churchich are just shy of Big Eight career passing records.

Wachholtz has seven pass interceptions this season, one short of the league mark held by John Konek of Kansas, 1951, and Andy Russell of Missouri, 1962.

Jones has gained 670 yards pass receiving this fall, just 19 shy of the league mark of 689 by Jim Doran of Iowa State in 1949.

Barney has caught 40 passes this season and has two games left to surpass the Big Eight season mark of 44 by Missouri's Hal Burnine in 1955.

Van Galder has 2,998 career passing yards, thanks to the discovery of a 34-yard pass he completed his sophomore year. The pass had been omitted from his record. He needs only 142 air yards his last two games at Arizona and Colorado State to surpass the career league mark of 3,139 by Missouri's Paul Christman in 1938-39-40.

In addition, Van Galder's 223 career completions is only seven shy of the league mark of 238 by Colorado's Gale Weidner in 1959-60-61.

Churchich has a career pass completion percentage of .535, second in league history to the .537 by Ralph Miller, Kansas '41.

Barney beat the others into the record book last week, setting a career mark for receptions, and he needs 293 yards in the last two games — a large order—to break Doran's career mark of 1,411.

The noteworthy marks don't stop with the records. K-State's swift 200-pound Cornelius Davis is only 51 short of 1,000 yards rushing this season.

Only eight players in league history have gained 1,000 in one season. Charlie Brown of Missouri needed the Sugar Bowl, his 11th game, to reach 1,057 last year. Last to do it in 10 games was Gale Sayers of Kansas in 1962.

Davis has a whopping 243-yard lead for the rushing crown over Don Shanklin of Kansas, with 706. Harry Wilson of Nebraska has 556, Wilmer Cooks of Colorado 534, William Harris of Colorado 514, Jack Reynolds of Oklahoma State 496 and Brown 486.

Van Galder leads Churchich in passing yardage, 1,192 to 1,060, and in total offense, 1,284 to 1,004, with Oklahoma's Bob Warrmark third in each case.

Cooks is on top in scoring with 60 points; Wachholtz in punt returns, 299 yards on 29; Shanklin in kickoff returns, 375 yards on 19, and David Morgan of Kansas in punting with a 43.6 average.

Around the Big Eight training camps, Kansas still had the most injury problems. The Jayhawks announced No. 1 fullback Dick Bacon will undergo knee surgery Monday.

Kansas cornerback J.C. Hixon and offensive end Sandy Buda aren't able to start but may see some action. Offensive guard Steve Heck remains doubtful. End Dave Waxse was moved to No. 2 fullback behind Tom DiBiase because of his blocking ability.

Missouri Coach Dan Devine made two second team personnel changes, then warned that the Kansas interior line is tough to run against. Tom Triplett, Kansas scout, said his team's biggest problem is "Missouri's notorious fine defense."

K-State's practice appeared spirited despite Doug Weaver's resignation.

In Golden Valley

Unsought And Tough Competition Found

The Golden Valley Conference seems to have found some unsought for stiff competition in the race for the 1966-67 championship when Montrose and Ballard broke into the undefeated ranks in conference play after two weeks. With two weeks gone by, the conference teams boast a 9-1 record against "outsiders."

The two new teams stand at the top of the circuit to date, Montrose with a 4-0 record and Ballard with a 3-0 record in the league. Following them are Calhoun with a 3-1; Chilhowee 2-1; Leeton 2-1; Deepwater 1-2; and Lowry City with 0-2.

From 1960 through 1965 Calhoun and Chilhowee have dominated the top spot in the conference with the exception of 1963 when Urlick slipped in and copped the honors. Chilhowee held it in 1960 and 1962 while Calhoun enjoyed the top seat in 1961, '64 and '65.

Earlier this season Coaches picked or guessed Chilhowee to be the winner of the conference tournament when teams were seeded. Since that meeting the Indians have lost to Ballard 79-65, thus starting another guessing contest. Calhoun's lone loss came at the hands of Archie a non-conference foe and thus cannot be evaluated.

However a new Coach, George Morton, of Northeast Oklahoma, has four starters from last years 26-4 club and must be considered a favorite. Montrose built its 4-0 record against Walker, Hume and Schell City a non-conference opponent and a victory over third seeded Leeton, indication of good balance.

Ballard defeated Walker, Hume, and Chilhowee and new Coach John Dean graduate of William Jewell expresses confidence his charges can take the league.

Deepwater and Lowry City remain unknown quantities until the season progresses further. Both have returning lettermen and new Coaches. John Kutcht at Deepwater and Harold Priest at Lowry City. Lowry is to be watched closely as Superintendent-Coach Priest who moved over from Russellville compiled a fine record as Coach.

Coach Bill Crowder of Leeton summed up the feeling of the Golden Valley Coaches when he said "We can beat anyone if things go right."

"A terrific roar went up in the apartment house when the game was over and he (Somerell) went to the door to go outside and saw my boy falling in the pool."

Villanueva, 29, in his seventh year in the National Football League, said the game-winning kick was the "finest hour of my career. The team needed it and the town needed it. I never kicked a bigger one."

"This has not been one of my better seasons. I'm not hitting the ball as well as I should have. This field goal just might do wonders for me."

Villanueva, who came to the Cowboys last season in a trade with the Los Angeles Rams, added that the moment he went on the field to try the three-pointer "I had an awful feeling I just can't describe."

"I had it in my power to save or destroy a season. It was a season for a whole town. I never saw a town more emotionally involved in a team than Dallas."

The Cowboys, 1½ games behind Eastern Division leader St. Louis and needing the victory to stay in contention, were met by an estimated 3,000 persons at the airport when they arrived home Sunday night.

Warrensburg College High defeated LaMonte Tuesday night 52-45.

Warrensburg was able to build up a lead and hold it throughout the game.

Leading scorer for the College High Colts was Bob Rogers. In "B" game action, College High was again victorious, 41-36.

The Colts will host Odessa next Tuesday night in Garrison Gymnasium, Warrensburg.

Score by quarters:
College High 15 17 11 9—52
LaMonte 12 14 13 6—45

Two Coaches Can Pick Winner

CHICAGO (AP)—Every football buff in the country is busy trying to figure out who will win the Notre Dame-Michigan State football game Saturday but there are only two men who have first-hand knowledge.

They happen to be Alex Agase, Northwestern's coach, and Jack Mollenkopf, Purdue's coach.

Agase and Mollenkopf have the distinction and misfortune of being the only coaches who have faced both Michigan State and Notre Dame.

Naturally, neither Agase nor Mollenkopf risk picking a winner.

"Let's say the final score will be 15-14," Mollenkopf told the Chicago Football Writers Tuesday, "and you can pick your own winner."

"Notre Dame is deeper in personnel," said Mollenkopf, "and Michigan State may have an edge in speed. Both defenses are great. I don't think either team can run against the other, and must rely on passing. Notre Dame has shown better passing."

Agase feels there is no way to measure a game upon which so much is at stake.

"Throw all past performances out the window," said Agase, "you have to rate them even-temper and start from scratch."

"Coaches know one hundred per cent what their own team will attempt and ninety per cent what the opposition will try to do."

Oddly enough, Notre Dame and Michigan State had opposite experiences against the common rivals which both teams faced on successive weekends.

Notre Dame struggled to a 26-14 victory over Purdue and the following week blew Northwestern apart 35-7.

Michigan State ran into Purdue at midseason, piled up a 28-0 lead in the third quarter and coasted to a 41-20 victory. The following week the Spartans ran into a dogged Northwestern team and were hard pressed to put across a 22-0 decision in a game which was a lot closer than the score indicates.

Quarterback Duel Nearing Showdown Now

NEW YORK (AP) — The quarterback duel between Terry Hanratty of Notre Dame and Jimmy Raye of Michigan State in Saturday's college football showdown at East Lansing, Mich., shapes up as a statistical standoff.

According to weekly NCAA figures released today, Hanratty and Raye are running neck-and-neck in offensive productivity.

Hanratty, a sophomore, stands 23rd in the nation in total offense and Raye, a junior, is 24th. Each has run for five touchdowns and their passing figures are strikingly similar.

Hanratty, who has thrown the ball more often than Raye, holds a 538 to 534 edge in completion percentage. Hanratty has completed 77 of 143 passes in eight games, Raye 55 of 103 in nine games.

Raye has tossed 10 touchdown passes, Hanratty eight. Raye leads the nation in yardage per pass attempt with a 9.4-yard average. Hanratty is third, with an 8.5-yard average, behind Bo Burris of Houston.

Hank Washington of West Texas State is the total offense leader for the third straight week. He has a 58-yard margin over runner-up Virgil Carter of Brigham Young.

Computer Works Out Game Plays

TEMPE, Ariz. (AP)—"Whrrr, whoosh, brr, clackity clack."

Translated: The split end goes right off the I-formation with the flanker right and the left halfback in motion.

"Zip, whrrr, whoosh," and so the sounds went as the plays of Arizona State's next football opponent were analyzed, almost down to the boil on the quarterback's neck.

There was no need to look for chalk diagrams on the blackboard, young crew-cut coaching assistants with clip boards or, for that matter, a football field or dirty sweat sock.

Instead, in dustfree, almost antiseptic surroundings, with temperatures at a constant 65 to 75 degrees, there was "The Monster."

The seven-unit $250,000 computer insatiably ate its way through stacks of scouting reports amid a galaxy of blinking lights, spinning magnetic tapes, clicking typewriters and indistinguishable sounds.

In preparation for a recent game with Oregon, the computer was fed 400 plays from the Ducks' early season games. Once placed on punch cards, about an hour task, The Monster needed only 50 minutes to digest the plays and print a complete scouting report.

This included the frequency of plays and formations, down and distance per play, whether from right or left hash mark, passes, touchdowns, two-point conversion tries, plays from inside their own and opponent's 20-yard line—and then refinements on all of these.

"It would take three coaches from 36 to 40 hours to do the same thing," said Paul Kemp.

Search For New Coach Is Underway

MANHATTAN, Kan. (AP) — Kansas State officials said the search for a head football coach to replace Doug Weaver began immediately after he resigned Tuesday, they praised his dedication—then they stopped talking and so did Weaver.

H. B. (Bebe) Lee, K-State athletic director for 10 years, and Dean C. Clyde Jones, chairman of the athletic board, said a committee to screen candidates was being set up. A meeting of the athletic board was set for Monday. James A. McCain, K-State president, was out of the state.

Weaver dropped a curtain of silence after telling his squad of his decision. His only statement praised the university and predicted the football program would be a future source of pride. He cancelled all his public appearances for the rest of the week, including his regular press conference after the Oklahoma State game here Saturday.

Weaver, 35, a former Michigan State linebacker and Missouri assistant, has two years remaining on a three-year contract and Lee said an effort would be made to retain Weaver in another capacity.

It's no secret, however, that one faction of influential alumni dislikes Lee and wants to obtain a coach by offering both the coaching job and the athletic director, but there has been an unwritten and unchallenged rule against it for all state schools for many years.

Ironically, Weaver steps down at a time when his seven-year rebuilding program is showing signs of future promise. He has some of the best sophomores in the league and the freshman squad is the best ever.

K-State has announced an accelerated athletic scholarship program and plans for a new 36,000-seat stadium costing 1½ million dollars. Financing became more difficult with each defeat this season, however.

Arfons Not Sure On New Effort To Best Land Speed Record

BONNEVILLE SALT FLATS, Utah (AP) — Art Arfons wasn't sure today if he would try again to better the world land speed record.

He tried Tuesday but could reach speeds of only 534 and 555 miles per hour, considerably lower than the record of 600 m.p.h. set a year ago Tuesday by Craig Breedlove of Los Angeles.

Arfons' Green Monster jet car developed engine trouble and a fin device to stabilize the car was damaged in Tuesday's runs.

An engine tune-up at nearby Wendover Air Force Base was scheduled today. Arfons also said he wanted some more charges for releasing his parachute braking system.

He said if the engine tune-up was satisfactory and the parachute brake charges arrive, he might try again this afternoon. Otherwise, Arfons said he would wait until Thursday or later in the week.

alumni pressure increased and it's understood Weaver was asked to step down. The team has an 0-8-1 record, with the last victory in 1964.

Weaver's current club moved the ball better both rushing and passing than any of his six previous teams, but the defense still lacked the size, talent and depth to keep pace in the tough Big Eight Conference.

It's clear, also, that K-State's football problems didn't start with Weaver. In the past 32 years, the Wildcats have had just three winning teams—4-3-2 in 1936 under Wes Fry, 6-3-1 in 1953 and 7-3 in 1954, both under Bill Meek. Weaver's best team was the 1964 club, 3-4 in Big Eight play and 3-7 for the season.

His over-all record is 8-59-1. Lynn Waldorf won K-State's only league title in his only year as head coach—in 1934. Following him, in order, were Fry 18-21-6, Hobbs Adams 4-21-2, Ward Haylett 6-20-2, Lud Fiser 1-7, Sam Francis 0-10, Ralph Graham 4-26-1, Meek 14-21-1, Bus Mertes 15-34-1 and Weaver.

Tense But Not Panicky Over Contest

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP) — Notre Dame's Baby Bombers, Terry Hanratty and Jim Seymour, are tense but not panicky over the big game with tough Michigan State Saturday.

"Sure, I feel a little nervous, but the whole team does," acknowledged Seymour, the 19-year-old pass-catching end of the Fighting Irish's celebrated sophomore battery today.

"It's not that we're jittery or scared. We're just all fired up. I've never seen a team so up for a game."

Hanratty, the 18-year-old quarterback, said he felt there was no chance that the younger members of the team might crack under the pressure of such an important game.

"We've played eight games already," he added. "Besides, the older men on the team—Larry Conjar, Nick Eddy, George Goeddeke—will keep us settled down."

Notre Dame's hopes of winning the national championship and completing its first perfect season since 1949 depends largely on this pair of rookies who have captured the imagination of the country.

Their poise will be given a severe test at East Lansing, Mich., Saturday by a big, rugged and quick Michigan State team which has swept through nine games in a row. Notre Dame, top-ranked nationally, is a three-point favorite over the No. 2 Spartans.

Hanratty, a 6-foot-1, 190-pound throwing whiz from Butler, Pa., has completed 77 of 143 passes for 1,221 yards and eight touchdowns. He can whip a sidarm short pass through a maize of enemy arms or hit a moving target half the distance down the field.

Seymour, 6-4 and 205 pounds, is quick and has remarkable moves. He has caught 37 passes

Arkansas Defensive Tackle Dies Tuesday

HOUSTON (AP) — Claude Smithy, defensive tackle on the University of Arkansas football team, died Tuesday in Methodist Hospital.

He was taken to the hospital Oct. 29 shortly after he collapsed in the dressing room following the Arkansas-Texas A&M game in College Station, Tex.

A hospital spokesman said Smithy died "of complications caused by head injuries."

Arkansas coaches said he played only briefly in the A&M game and films showed no blow on the head that could have caused the injury.

for 712 yards and six touchdowns. The rangy end from Berkley, Mich., injured his ankle in the Oklahoma game Oct. 22, but returned to the lineup against Duke last week. "My ankle is fine," he says. "I'll be ready."

Susan Graves Is Queen Of Festival

Miss Susan Graves was crowned Miss Knob Noster Saturday afternoon, Nov. 5, by Mayor R. M. Scott in one of the main events of the Fall Festival. The daughter of Lt. Col. and Mrs. G. C. Graves, she is a junior at the Knob Noster Senior High School. Miss Graves was escorted by Gary Zink. The queen's flower crown, a gift of DeBacker's Shop in Warrensburg, was of white mums and butterfly leaves and glitter.

First runner-up was Miss Andrea Perkins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. B. Perkins, 406 Salem. Knob Noster; second runner-up was Miss Bonnie Sanders, daughter of Sgt. and Mrs. Marion Sanders, Whiteman AFB; and third runner-up was Miss Chris Poggi, daughter of WO and Mrs. Wilford Poggi, Whiteman AFB.

Each candidate wore a bronze mums, presented to her by her sponsor.

Despite the cool weather, a large crowd was on hand for the crowning ceremonies and parade held on State Street.

The twenty-five candidates and their escorts, riding in convertibles formed a parade from the high school parking lot to the corner of McPherson and State Streets where they alighted from the cars and walked down a pathway formed by members of Beta Sigma Phi and were introduced to the audience. Following the crowning, gifts were presented to the four winners by Mayor Scott. Mrs. Don Kerr, member of Beta Sigma Phi sorority, was mistress of ceremonies.

The queen had been selected on Friday evening by a panel of judges at a reception given for the candidates and their sponsors by the Beta Sigma Phi sorority. Each candidate spoke briefly before the judges and audience. The judges were Col. Donald Merten, Base Commander of Whiteman Air Force Base; Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Cast of Holden; and Mrs. Fran Nash of the Sedalia School of Hairdressing. The reception was sponsored by the Beta Sigma Phi as a service project and following the appearance of the candidates, refreshments of punch, tea sandwiches, and coffee were served by the members.

There was a parade immediately following the crowning of the queen. The Knob Noster Band led the parade, followed by the queen, runner-up and the other candidates and their escorts in convertibles. Girl Scouts from Brownies through Cadettes were well represented in the parade as well as a float, and horseback riders.

A talent show followed the parade. The Majestics, a combo of boys, all who attend the Knob Noster Senior High School, were the winners and received the first prize of $15.00. Margel Clements placed second with her baton twirling performance. She is a majorette for the high school band. Third place went to Debby Hendricks, 7 years old, and Joni Higginbotham, 6 years old, small daughters of Capt. and Mrs. Roy J. Hendricks and Capt. and Mrs. Jon Higginbotham, respectively, of Whiteman AFB, who presented a tap dance routine.

Fiddlers from the area tuned up for the Old Fiddlers contest, with Adams Judd as chairman of this event. There were seven contestants, with first prize of

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

Virginia once stretched from the Atlantic to the Pacific Ocean and even included the Bermuda Islands. These sea-to-sea boundaries were fixed by three royal charters granted by the King of England in 1606, 1609, and 1611-12. Virginia thus claimed an area of more than one million square miles. This vast territory was reduced by the charters of Maryland in 1632 and Pennsylvania in 1681.

$15.00 going to Fred Stoneking of Chilhowee; second prize of $10.00 going to Lee Stoneking of Blairstown. (son and father), and third prize of $5.00 going to Joe McIntire of Knob Noster. An added attraction of the contest was a lady fiddler, Mrs. Neal Cusick.

The toe tapping music of the Trailblazers furnished music for the dance which followed the fiddlers contest. The dance as well as the talent contest and fiddlers contest which had been planned for street events had to be moved inside Franklin's Body Shop, when the weather became too cool.

Mr. and Mrs. Morris Rigdon were in charge of the Chamber of Commerce food booth. Jack Turner, president of the Chamber of Commerce, said the Fall Festival was a complete success considering the weather, and a bigger and better one will be planned for next year, only earlier in the fall.

Children Tell Secrets About Asthma

DENVER, Colo. (AP) — Sleeping children are telling secrets about asthma — a tragic and sometimes deadly disease that grips five million Americans.

Machines record the pulse, breathing, heart beat and brain waves of these youngsters in slumber — and it also records the very movement of their eyes to show when they are dreaming.

Researchers here are looking for patterns that develop before an asthma attack — a constriction of breathing passages that makes the victim feel like he is suffocating. A severe attack can bring death.

Dr. William W. Hahn is conducting the study at the Children's Asthma Research Institute and Hospital. The hospital offers treatment to youngsters 6 to 15 from the United States and abroad.

Admission is based on the severity of the case and is limited to children who get no relief from conventional treatment.

Dr. Hahn has completed a study based on tests of waking children which shows that asthmatics have different heart beat and breathing rates than healthy youngsters.

"What I'm interested in is what in the nervous system is responsible for triggering this asthma attack," said Dr. Hahn.

He explained that the heart rate and similar body functions are controlled by the autonomic nervous system, composed of two branches which work in opposition to each other.

One speeds up the heart, the other slows it down. Normally, said Dr. Hahn, they achieve a balance or harmony. But he believes in asthmatics the balance is disturbed.

Doctors believe that emotional problems can cause asthma, as well as physical factors such as allergies.

Dr. Hahn is hopeful that the study will show whether emotional stress can trigger an asthma attack. His machines can measure psychological reaction by tracing the brain wave pattern, he said.

He also wants to determine in which of the four stages of sleep asthma attacks occur. Stage one, in which a person dreams, is the stage of lightest sleep. The deepest sleep is in stage four.

Rapid eye movements recorded by the machine show when a child is dreaming, said Dr. Hahn. Everyone dreams, he said, although some don't remember their dreams when they awaken.

Washington Today In

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Russell B. Long says private contributions to presidential campaigns should be outlawed now that such campaigns will be financed through income tax checkoffs.

The Louisiana Democrat, author of the measure permitting taxpayers to stipulate $1 of their income tax payment to help underwrite presidential campaigns of both parties, said other limitations on political contributions are needed.

Long said in a statement inserted in the Congressional Record that enactment of his provision "does not replace the need for additional legislation regulating political contributions or requiring disclosure of the source of political campaign contributions."

The Long provision, calculated to raise about $60 million to be divided equally between Republicans and Democrats for the 1968 election, does not apply to congressional, gubernatorial or local campaigns.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Treasury Department says the deficit in the U.S. balance of payments dropped during the third quarter of 1966 but may increase a bit before the year ends.

Secretary of the Treasury Henry H. Fowler said Monday balance-of-payments conditions have a way of swinging back and forth. He said in view of the good showing in the last two quarters, "I wouldn't be surprised if there were some increase in the deficit in the period ahead."

Fowler reported Monday a third-quarter seasonally adjusted deficit of $217 million. This brought the total deficit for the first nine months of 1966 to $878 million — which would mean an annual rate of $1.17 billion, compared with last year's $1.34 billion deficit.

Movie Mogul Sam Warner, 'Last Tycoon'

EDITOR'S NOTE — They call him "The Last Tycoon," and the description is apt. For Jack L. Warner is the sole survivor of the moguls who once practiced one-man rule in the studios of Hollywood. He is renowned as a teller of bad jokes, a hard-headed executive, a battler with actors. Bob Thomas, Associated Press columnist, recaps Warner's lively career in three stories starting today.

By BOB THOMAS

AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The audience at the glittering premiere of the San Francisco Film Festival had never seen anything quite like it.

Jack L. Warner had been called to the stage to be honored for his contribution to the art of the cinema. George Dusheck of the San Francisco Examiner reported the performance:

"Warner read the last page of his speech first, accepted the Golden Gate statuette before it was presented to him and denounced communism for several minutes while (emcee Peter) Ustinov wrung his hands like Zasu Pitts."

After rambling rabidly on other subjects "aware of the hoots and insults coming from the audience, he peered out into the auditorium and said, 'Somebody is giving me the goose.'"

On the following day, the Festival presented a retrospective program of the achievements of the film maker during his 48-year tenure as head of production for Warner Brothers. Critics marveled at the panorama of distinctive films and personalities:

John Barrymore in the silent "Don Juan." Al Jolson in "The Jazz Singer" speaking the first words heard in a feature movie.

Edward G. Robinson, James Cagney, Humphrey Bogart as the snarling symbols of the gangster era. Busby Berkeley's geometric fantasies in the Dick Powell-Ruby Keeler musicals.

Bette Davis at her dramatic heights, the young John Garfield in "Four Daughters," Paul Muni as Zola. Bogie in "Casablanca" and "Sierra Madre." Brando as Stanley Kowalski, Gary Cooper as Sergeant York, Cagney as George M. Cohan, etc., etc.

San Franciscans learned last month what Hollywood has known for decades: that Warner's films speak better for him than he does.

He and his brothers started producing movies in St. Louis back in 1912. The four boys were sons of Polish immigrants, and they started the film business in New Castle, Pa., with a converted store they called the Bijou.

Down through the empire-building years, Jack always operated the studio while his other brothers took care of business matters in New York. Now Harry, Albert and Sam are dead, and Jack rules Warner Brothers as president and production chief.

pared with last year's $1.34 billion deficit.

A vigorous 74, he is often termed "The Last Tycoon."

From his desk in the administration building of the Burbank studio, Jack Warner continues to dictate the fortunes of a corporation that last week reported an annual gross of $97 million and a profit of $4,663,000 in the fiscal year ending August 1966. Far from slowing down, he is rolling for higher stakes than ever before.

A born gambler, he risked $5.5 million to buy "My Fair Lady" and sank $17 million in its filming. He paid Elizabeth Taylor and Richard Burton a million dollars each to star in "Who's Afraid of Virginia Woolf?" and allowed it to be filmed with bawdier language than film audiences had ever heard before. Both gambles appear to have paid off.

Now Warner is spending $10 million or more on another Lerner-Loewe musical, "Camelot," without a box-office "draw" in the east.

He oversees such projects with cool-headed showmanship and remarkable taste, yet Hollywood knows him from his public speeches as a buffoon. The real Jack Warner? He remains unseen.

VC Divert Tons of AID

EDITOR'S NOTE — There are two sides interested in the billions in aid the U.S. is pouring into South Viet Nam — the South Vietnamese and the Viet Cong. How successful are the Reds? This is another in a series of articles on graft, payoffs and diversion in Viet Nam, based on an exhaustive study by an AP reporting team.

By FRED S. HOFFMAN

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Rounding a bend, the Vietnamese driver wrenched his old truck to a slithering halt in a cloud of red dust. Five black-uniformed men blocked the road.

The driver climbed wordlessly from his cab. Arguing with the Viet Cong could be fatal.

A few minutes later, the truck rolled on again, lighter by 20 bags of rice. The bags, emblazoned with the red, white and blue handclasp insignia of U.S. AID, already were disappearing into the jungle on the backs of bearers.

Some 25 miles from this Viet Cong "tax collection" roadblock, a white-shirted youth walked into a Saigon pharmacy and bought a bottle of antibiotic tablets.

No questions were asked. The youth didn't have to present a prescription. He simply pocketed the pills and left. In time, and by a circuitous route, the drugs reached the Communists fighting in the jungle.

The U.S. 196th Light Infantry Brigade this month overran a Viet Cong camp at Ba Hao and found, among other things, more than 1,250,000 pounds of U.S. AID rice — enough to feed a guerrilla division for two months.

The sacks still bore the names of the American exporters, including Connell Rice & Sugar Co. of Houston, Tex., and Riviana of Abbeville, La., Houston and New Orleans.

Brigade intelligence officers concluded that the rice probably had been taken off freighters on the way up the river to Saigon, or diverted on the way to the provinces from a Saigon rice mill.

These are three typical ways in which foodstuffs, pharmaceuticals and other goods provided by American funds find their way to the Viet Cong.

And this is only one of the many leaks turned up by an Associated Press reporting team which investigated the problem all the way from Washington to the Vietnamese fighting fronts.

The team concluded that theft, black marketeering, bribery, kickbacks and various other kinds of wrongful wheeling and dealing in the Viet Nam war have been costing U.S. taxpayers at least half a million dollars a day.

U.S. officials readily acknowledged the diversion of American AID goods to the Viet Cong. They say there is no way to pinpoint, or even estimate, the dollar value of the losses.

This is because much of the goods passes into Vietnamese commercial channels and U.S. controls diminish almost to the vanishing point, except for some spot checking.

Vietnamese civilian trucks hauling food, fertilizer, building materials and other AID goods travel the roads unescorted. Thus, they are wide open to Viet Cong extortion.

"Unless you put a military guard on every convoy, you can't stop the VC shakedowns," said one American military enforcement officer. "And if we did that, we wouldn't have enough men to fight the war."

The Vietnamese police and armed forces do not provide protection for most of the truck traffic outside the cities, though they have established checkpoints along key routes.

It's an entirely different story where military arms, ammunition and supplies are concerned. The U.S. forces maintain a very close guard over their gear in transit or in depots.

And American military authorities say they have found no evidence of any significant amount of U.S.-supplied arms or equipment finding its way to the Viet Cong through connivance of the South Vietnamese military.

Back when the South Vietnamese army was doing most of the ground fighting, the number of weapons lost to the Reds just about balanced the number taken from the Viet Cong.

But with the big U.S. troop buildup, the edge turned against the Communists by a 2-1 margin in the first half of 1966.

The drainoff of drugs and food to the Viet Cong is another matter.

"There are many chances of leakage to the Viet Cong and medicines represent one of the most serious leakages of all the commodities we pay for," said a top official of the Agency for International Development.

Lt. Gen. Jonathan Seaman, a top field commander, said medical supplies found in Communist caches often bear American brand names. There is no way of knowing how they got there, he said. They could have been stolen from AID or military stocks, smuggled from Cambodia or Europe, or just bought over the counter in Saigon.

AID authorities claim to have tightened up a great deal on supplies are guarded and their shipment of drugs to Vietnamese civilian hospitals and clinics. The U. S. military says its supplies are guarded and its usage monitored.

The major weakness appears to be the virtual lack of any drug controls under Vietnamese law — and the failure to enforce the few that exist, according to U.S. military police authorities.

An AID investigator said: "A sizable amount of medicine gets to the VC. The VC's agents just buy it in the stores."

Anybody can buy any kind of a drug in Vietnamese pharmacies without a prescription.

The ease with which all kinds of drugs — including antibiotics — can be acquired in Viet Nam is a source of worry to military doctors, such as Capt. Arthur M. Ahearn, who served with the Special Forces before being shifted to Ft. Bragg, N.C.

Ahearn said the Viet Cong gets some of their drugs from the black market — but that pharmaceuticals are cheaper and more accessible to the open market.

"In Viet Nam, you can buy penicillin, streptomycin and tetracycline, a powerful antibiotic, in drug stores without a prescription," Ahearn said.

The Army doctor said the VC especially need powerful anti-infection drugs like tetracycline, which he called "an excellent drug for abdominal infections caused by wounds and sickness."

Ahearn said that strong drugs are kept under double lock in U.S. military hospitals and supply depots, but that "inevitably, there is some pilferage by civilian workers."

At field dispensaries, Ahearn said, the Army has found it necessary to search all Vietnamese civilian workers before allowing them to board planes back to the cities.

One of the difficulties in curbing the drainoff of rice, cooking oil and other commodities to the VC lies in the practice of channeling this aid through Vietnamese commercial outlets.

It is impossible for a Vietnamese storekeeper to know whether a rice buyer is a member or supporter of the VC, one senior AID official argued. He also contended that a wholesale distributor cannot know whether a retailer who sends him an order is a VC sympathizer.

AID authorities said they concentrate on trying to block the flow of strategic commodities and not that to do this, they have helped the Vietnamese police establish checkpoints along routes around major cities and ports.

These checkpoints, and river patrols, are supposed to watch for drugs, chemicals, explosives and arms, iron pipe and material and that to do this, they have weapons.

"The checkpoints often seize rice, which is very important to the Viet Cong," one expert source said.

"This is a delicate problem because the rice is shown on the driver's manifest as consigned to a store in a certain village."

"But how is anyone at the checkpoint to know whether that village at the moment is under government or VC control, or in some shadow zone in between?"

"And, of course, the destination may be shown as a village which is known to be firmly government-held — but the rice may be diverted somewhere else."

Will it ever be possible to stop completely the losses of U.S.-supplied and paid for food and goods?

"No," said an AID chief. "If we attempted to starve out all the villages suspected of VC connections, it would necessarily mean starving out a good part of the population of Viet Nam."

The Viet Cong still have the power to interrupt traffic just about any time and nearly any place they wish — fading into the jungle after they have struck.

"Road taxes" imposed by the Viet Cong are a major source of the Communists' money income, as well as a prime source of food.

"The Vietnamese businessman who ships products from the delta to Saigon may have to pay taxes totaling 20, 30 or 40 per cent," a U.S. source said. "It is part of the tax system and rather elaborate shadow government of the Viet Cong."

The taxes vary from 500 piasters — about $4 — for a small vehicle to as much as 3,000 piasters — about $25 — to let an oil truck pass.

With an insolence that makes U.S. officials shake their heads, the Viet Cong often give receipts to those they hold up.

A driver who pays a tax at one point in his journey has no assurance another VC band won't stop him farther down the road and collect again.

American officials react gingerly when asked whether any U.S. contractors pay the Viet Cong in order to free their trucks to travel the roads without hindrance.

"Some American companies have contracted with Vietnamese trucking firms to carry their products," a U.S. government official said.

"These Vietnamese truckers undoubtedly pay off to get through, but the American companies keep clean."

"So I think there is very little payoff to the VC by American companies. French companies operating in Viet Cong territory, of course, have had to pay off."

A key Pentagon official, questioned in Washington, said: "As far as I am concerned, no American contractors are paying the VC."

"If it comes to our attention, we will pull the rug."

Said a spokesman for Esso Corp.: "We are aware that our contractors find it necessary on occasions to pay money to the Viet Cong to get through checkpoints. We do not approve of this practice, and do not condone it."

As one means of denying critical resources to the Viet Cong, the U.S. mission in Saigon created an economic warfare committee in September 1965.

Last spring, the committee heard that surplus U.S. military property was being auctioned in Saigon under conditions that provided little or no assurance that it was not going to the Viet Cong.

The upshot was a cable from the economic warfare group to Washington and subsequent U.S. government action prohibiting the sale of certain military surplus items in Viet Nam.

Stray Bullet Flies Through House Walls

AITKIN, Minn. (AP) — Harry Elstad was sitting in his farm home Sunday when a stray bullet — apparently fired by a deer hunter — ripped through the outside wall of the home. The bullet went through an interior wall, then hit Elstad's belt. He received a severe bruise but was not hospitalized, the sheriff's office reported.

Plan Interest Hike On Gov't Bonds

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government plans to offer 5 per cent interest on its new savings certificates, much to the ire of the savings and loan industry, the Washington Post reported today.

President Johnson announced Sept. 21 that the government was considering a higher-interest savings lure as part of a drive to coax Americans into lending more money to fight the Viet Nam war.

The Post said purchasers of the 5 per cent certificates first would have to purchase 4.15 per cent Series E savings bonds. Thus, yield on the over-all investment would be less than 5 per cent.

Savings and loan institutions in many areas pay between 4½ and 5 per cent on passbook deposits, and slightly more on deposits which must be left for a fixed period of time.

Savings and loan institutions fear some of their funds may be diverted to the government certificates. One effect of this would be less money available for home mortgages — already a tight market.

ADELAIDE, Australia (AP) — Scientists of seven nations today hailed the successful 530-mile flight of Europa 1 rocket and said it means they will have a commercial communications satellite ready by 1970 or sooner.

The 104-foot, three-stage rocket, developed by the European Launcher Development Organization, blasted off early today from the Woomera range on its 9½-minute trip. The Blue Streak primary booster separated as scheduled 42 miles up, followed by the successive firing of the second-stage French Coralie rocket and the third-stage West German rocket behind the Italian satellite.

MONTREAL (AP) — A machinists' strike against Air Canada shut off 80 per cent of the country's air service today. The company normally hauls 20,000 passengers daily.

The strike began Monday afternoon after 5,200 members of the International Association of Machinists, whose pay now ranges from $1.56 to $3.17 per hour, turned down an 18 per cent increase on a two-year contract. They demanded a 20 per cent boost plus 9 per cent in fringe benefits.

The strike idled 4,000 pilots, stewardesses and ticket agents and grounded the firm's 86-plane fleet.

Economist Speaks On Wealth Control

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Distribution of the world's wealth — rather than population control — will be the key to the survival of man, says a Harvard University economist.

Dr. Simon Kuznets told the American Philosophical Society here that the population problem could be resolved best "by changes in economic and social institutions."

Frederick Reef, 330 miles off the Australian east coast, on Nov. 3. She got off three days later and was drydocked at Brisbane.

The sub's captain, Lt. Cmdr. Earl de Wispelaere, 35, of Marion, N.Y., and Honolulu, said the damage was not serious and the submarine is "entirely safe to go to sea and to submerge."

Search Is Ended For Air Force Plane

OTIS AIR FORCE BASE, Mass. (AP) — The Air Force has given up its search for a radar picket plane that crashed in the Atlantic Friday and has declared the 19 crew members dead.

A burned flight jacket and other debris were found in the search area about 125 miles southeast of Nantucket Island near Cape Cod.

Nine Air Force officers arrived at Otis during the weekend to investigate the crash of the Constellation.

Chinese Developments Bring Dread

HONG KONG (AP) — Red China's neighbors shudder as they watch developments in the world of communism. For students of Communist trends, two main factors arouse apprehension:

—There is growing worry about the Soviet Union. Some qualified students of Communist affairs express fear that pressure from the U.S.S.R.'s own "hawks" is growing, perhaps to the extent of endangering the leadership of party chief Leonid I. Brezhnev and Premier Alexei N. Kosygin.

—The men now ruling China and their supporters appear to believe implicitly in what their own propaganda says.

While China's internal political struggle continues, the Kremlin watches for signs of an upheaval in Peking which might break the anti-Soviet course.

Peking's leaders watch the Kremlin for signs of a neo-Stalinist upheaval which might produce a more militant Soviet regime. The United States watches both.

And both Peking and Moscow watch the United States for any hint of diminished public support for the administration's Viet Nam policy. It all adds up to increasing tension.

Red China's propaganda insists that the United States eventually will attack the China mainland; that Viet Nam is just a prelude. An attack is probably a distant prospect for Chinese leaders, but to them still inevitable unless they change their course. They show no signs of changing their course.

With its internal political turmoil and economic weakness, Red China is not courting a clash with American power. It is being cautious. But if its leaders are convinced that the clash will come this could lead Peking to actions which might have serious consequences.

Peking has shown that it wants the war in Viet Nam to continue indefinitely and that it is willing to tolerate a certain amount of risk to that end.

Propellant Maker Feels It's Old Hat

ELKTON, Md. (AP) — The thrill isn't what it used to be for H.G. Jones, general manager of the Thiokol Co.'s propellant plant which made the retro-rockets for the Gemini series spacecraft.

"It's sort of routine by now," says Jones. "After the first flight, you expect it to go well."

Jones spoke with pride about the four 13-inch, solid-fuel rockets to be used by astronauts Edwin E. Aldrin Jr. and James Lovell Jr. to bring the Gemini 12 back to earth today.

He said the celebration among the plant's 550 workers would be limited to a public address announcement when the astronauts are back safely.

"You've got to have a sort of quiet jubilation in a propellant plant," he said. "You can't let anyone get too happy."

Topic Chosen By Speaker At AAUW Meet

"First Ladies of the United States" was the topic chosen by Miss Elizabeth Mills, Professor of English at Southwest Missouri State College in Springfield, when she spoke to members of the American Association of University Women. Mrs. Ed Kehde was hostess for the Nov. 7 meeting, with co-hostesses, Mrs. James McNeil, Miss Ida Cruzan, Miss Marian Keens, Miss Edyth Couey, and Mrs. W. G. Killingsworth.

Miss Mills, a regular contributor to Saturday Review, is presently working on a linguistic study of puns in literature. She related many interesting anecdotes from the lives of early first ladies. She pointed out that Dolly Madison was influential in Washington society for forty years. Mrs. Madison loved beautiful clothes and elaborate hats, and she made ice cream popular.

President John Tyler's wife introduced the idea of playing "Hail to the Chief" whenever the President enters. Mrs. Millard Fillmore talked Congress into an appropriation to start the White House Library. These and countless other items provided a revealing insight into lives and times of the early first ladies.

The business meeting was presided over by the first vice-president, Mrs. Jack Cunningham. Mrs. Ned Postels introduced the following new members: Mrs. Carl Folkerts, Mrs. Keith Fulton, Mrs. Joseph Gooding, Mrs. Van Jones, Mrs. Douglas Keith, Mrs. Dan McClatchey, Mrs. Walter Stoll, Mrs. Bruce Whittier, and Mrs. David Williams.

Mrs. James McNeil reported that the names of Lyn Lockett and Lois DeMott have been submitted for the American Field Service Summer Student program. She read a letter from Libbie Mackie, last year's A. F. student from Rhodesia.

Guests introduced were Mrs.

A new physical fitness recognition program will get underway in a short time. This program is being sponsored by the Boys Club of America and the President's Council of Physical Fitness in cooperation with Boys Incorporated of America. Materials for this program will be sent to the Executive Director for purpose of inaugurating the program.

Staff members have perfected a program for photography. Last year some 30 boys signed up for this program and now boys are being alerted to the program which is somewhat different than the ones held in the past. A boy joins the photography class as an apprentice photographer. In the apprentice phase he learns the basics of photography, proper use of cameras, composition, mixing chemicals, developing, printing and enlarging. When he completes his apprentice training, he is given a photography assignment, which requires that he produce a set of enlargements on his subject. Upon passing his assignment, the apprentice is promoted to photographer.

In this category, he divides his time into four areas of advanced photography, candid shooting, portrait work, action shots and laboratory techniques. Depending on the ability and the amount of time the boy spends on his photography, he will remain a photographer for one and a half to two years. At the end of this period he submits a portfolio for exhibition to a panel of judges made up of local professionals and recognized amateurs. If his portfolio is accepted, he is awarded the title of Master Photographer.

Have you given thought to an important advantage of wall-to-wall carpeting? That advantage is the impression of spaciousness. Carpeting completely covering your floors does make the room look larger.

In addition, wall-to-wall carpeting ties your rooms together into a harmonious whole, eliminating accident-laden scatter rugs, curled rug edges and other disadvantages.

Every inch of your floor is usable, luxurious and livable with wall-to-wall carpeting. No more furniture half-off and half-on the rug, and gone forever is that bare space from the edge of a rug to the wall. How much easier this advantage alone makes your house cleaning.

Wall-to-wall carpeting offers a quiet restful background and makes home decorating much easier. For every theme or decor you may wish to carry out in your "dream home," we have the wall-to-wall carpeting selection to harmonize perfectly. Let our trained personnel aid you. ## Teachers Should Teach

Probably no teacher has ever had enough time to do what he entered the profession to do—to teach.

But with today's greater academic and counseling and supervisory demands, combined with a swelling flood of paper-work and record keeping, the problem has become more acute than ever for the nation's elementary and high school teachers.

Two years ago, the National Education Association launched a project called "Time to Teach," designed to help teachers identify their most pressing problems and find solutions for them. For many of them a major part of the answer to the complaint of "no time to teach" has been found in parent volunteers.

In an elementary school in Missouri, for example, a parent supervises the library periods, another watches over the cafeteria during lunch hour, others do clerical work.

In a school in Virginia, parents type stencils two hours each day for classroom use. In one in Maryland, they supervise the student activity period one afternoon a week. In Nebraska, mothers provide assistants for typing, record keeping and library supervision.

In all, 24 schools in 15 districts throughout the United States are participating in the pilot project, freeing teachers for routine, nonteaching chores so that they may plan for classes, grade papers, work with students, confer with parents, or just have a quiet lunch period.

The contribution by parents has been outstanding, says the association in a report on the project.

This is as it should be, for by giving teachers more time to teach, they are also giving their children more time to learn.

Air Cleanup Meets With Resistance

By DREW PEARSON AND JACK ANDERSON

WASHINGTON — It looks as if cleaning up the air we breathe has developed into the same hassle between industry and the public as cleaning up auto safety. For a long time the automobile industry dominated the President's auto safety committee, and no real moves were made toward building safer cars until crusading young Ralph Nader induced Sen. Abe Ribicoff, D-Conn., to investigate.

The same situation now exists with the Air Pollution Control Association, which is supposed to help clean up the air but which has been marking time for many years doing almost nothing.

If you look down the roster of association officials and the companies which put up its money, you can understand why. Most of the supporting firms are oil or automobile companies. And the automobile companies have just been called before a grand jury in Los Angeles to explain why they have held back on the smog cleanup in Southern California.

At the recent annual meeting of the Air Pollution Control Association in San Francisco, the program chairman was A. Batchelder of Chevron Research, which does the research for Standard Oil of California.

The facilities and program for the meeting were handled by Donald E. Stevens and Donald A. Jensen of the Ford Company.

Banquet arrangements were supervised by George Dixon of Tidewater Oil. Tours and transportation were handled by J. C. Ellis of Shell Oil, registration of delegates by Byron Ljung of Union Oil, public relations by Harry Williams of U. S. Steel and finances by Donald Bell of Pacific Gas and Electric.

Incoming president of the Air Pollution Association is James Huguet of Ethyl Corporation, the company which conceived the idea of putting lead in gasoline, thereby making it more efficient but also adding deadly fumes to the atmosphere.

Ties With U. S. Government

Despite the domination by industry, the U. S. Public Health Service put up a grant of $21,800 to pay the expenses of 40 persons to attend the first international air pollution conference in London last month. Not all the grant was used, since only eleven persons went. It should also be noted in fairness that they were chiefly state and city air pollution experts, not industry executives, and probably could not have afforded to take the trip without outside financial help.

However, the significant fact is that industry influences the Association which is supposed to help clean up the atmosphere. For instance, when Donald Green of the U. S. Public Health Service wrote a damning report regarding air pollution, he was not permitted to publish it in the official journal, Green wrote:

"Air pollution is a social disease that has been smothered in secrecy the way syphilis was a decade ago. The experts keep the

The Dead End Again

There was a time when the predominately agricultural eastern part of Germany was known as the nation's breadbasket.

Today it is known as the Soviet Zone, sometimes mislabeled the German Democratic Republic, and far from being a breadbasket for all of Germany was recently forced to buy 3.4 million dollars' worth of wheat from the United States to feed its own small population.

It has been ever thus in every country, including the great homeland of the Soviet Union, where the Communists have imposed collectivization upon independent farmers.

As the song, currently popular among American pacifists, goes: "When will they ever learn?"

No Change In US View On Red China

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ever since 1950, the year the Korean war began and the Red Chinese got involved, the United States has been opposing U.N. membership for the Chinese Communists.

That was 16 years ago and ever since, by various parliamentary devices, the United States has succeeded in keeping Red China out. Now, once again this year, the try will be made.

The 121-member U.N. General Assembly is supposed to start debating Friday.

In the early 1950s the main American argument was Red China's intrusion into the Korean War. Now it focuses on Peking's involvement, in various ways, in the war in Viet Nam.

In the late 1950s and early 1960s, as the memory of Korea receded a bit, if either the Republican or Democratic administrations of those years had thought the time had come to admit Red China, it would have been politically unpopular.

Now the war in Viet Nam has abolished any chance of change in the American government's attitude.

In the early 1950s, when the U.N. membership was much smaller, this country had no great problem in getting a good-sized majority to block U.N. membership for the Chinese Reds.

Plan For Car Owners

TURIN, Italy (AP) —The Fiat company has announced a plan to help Fiat owners replace or refit vehicles destroyed or damaged in Italy's disastrous floods. It said that until Jan. 31, it would knock 40 per cent off the purchase price of new replacement cars and make financial arrangements for repairs on damaged cars.

Later, as the membership increased, the American majority decreased and reached its low point in 1960. In the early years the United States had successfully opposed even debating U.N. membership for the Red Chinese.

But by 1961 it tried a new device which it has been using in one way or another since. This was to ask the assembly to consider admission of Red China as an "important matter."

Only a simple majority was needed to name the problem of Red Chinese membership an "important matter."

But once there was such a majority vote, then there would have to be debate on this "important matter" of admitting Red China. Then, when debate ended and the assembly voted on letting in Red China, a two-thirds vote would be needed on this "important matter."

The Red Chinese haven't had enough sympathizers yet to provide that two-thirds vote. Last year the vote was 47 to 47, with 20 abstentions. This week the United States made its "important matter" proposal again.

The Soviet Union, despite its split with the Red Chinese, has supported U.N. membership for them. It will be fascinating to see what Moscow does this year because of something that happened this week in Bulgaria.

A Soviet-inspired effort toward reading Red China out of the Communist world ran into opposition. The Soviet Union will be in an awkward spot if, believing Red China is unfit for Communist partnership, it says China is fit for U.N. membership.

On the U.N. membership question, Washington must also consider its ally — Chiang Kai-shek's Nationalist Chinese on Formosa. They have been a U.N. member from the beginning.

This country couldn't stand by and see Nationalist China thrown out for Red China. And any idea of two Chinas in the United Nations is killed this year, at least, by American opposition to Red Chinese membership at all.

at three no-trump is for East to rise with the ace of hearts and return the nine. South will take three clubs leaving the high club in dummy; cash the ace-king of diamonds to see if the queen will drop, enter dummy with the last club and try the spade finesse. West will take his king and cash three heart tricks for down one. South will make the last trick with act of spades."

Jim: "That's just what happened at most tables. This South went down two. It seems that East huddled before playing the ace of hearts. Then, when he returned the nine, West said, 'Nice work.' South glared at West and said, 'I assume you hold the king of spades for that remark.' West replied, 'Now that you ask, I sure do.'"

Oswald: "West's first remark was wrong but South's question was a frightful breach of ethics. What happened?"

Jim: "South cashed the ace and king of diamonds first. West played the five and then the three while East dropped the ten and then the nine. Then South ran four clubs stopping in his own hand and West discarded a heart and the eight of spades. South threw West in with the queen of hearts. West cashed two more hearts said 'Surprise!' and produced the seven of diamonds to give his partner the last two tricks with diamonds. Down two, instead of the usual one."

Oswald: "West certainly out-smarted South but South had no right to get mad. After his question about the king of spades he deserved anything that happened to him."

Jim: "The fight wasn't between West and South. North wanted to know just what sort of an expert South was."

Will Uncle Sam Reopen A New Loan Rate War?

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) —His wallet a bit thin because of the money he's spending in Viet Nam, Uncle Sam is about to approach you regarding a small loan—a couple of billion dollars perhaps.

In doing so, he may provoke a scrap with others who also are after your money. Already some short fuses are sputtering.

Everyone, Uncle Sam especially, knows you have the money. The problem is how to pry it away from you, and the answer is by offering high interest rates. But high interest was a nasty phase we thought was behind us.

One reason we thought so was that Uncle Sam in September clamped a lid on the rates that savings institutions could offer. It helped cool a rate war. Will he reopen it now? That's the question — and it's Uncle Sam's move.

His plan is to offer purchasers of Series E Savings Bonds, which return 4.15 per cent interest, the opportunity to also purchase savings certificates at an even higher interest rate.

Commercial banks, savings and loan associations, mutual savings banks and credit unions are, in that order, the chief competitors for this type of money.

On the sidelines, but still vitally interested, are most other financial institutions as well as the stock and bond markets.

The first to be heard from undoubtedly will be the savings and loan associations. For them, it has been a very rough year. Once they offered some of the best rates available. But rates soared everywhere this year.

One aspect of this economic boom was a tremendous demand for money. It surprised even the Federal Reserve's top bankers. Consequently, the price for it soared also. Soon banks offered more than savings associations.

These associations need a steady inflow of money in order to reinvest it at a higher rate, principally in house mortgages.

The savings associations were caught from both directions. Housing was in a slump — although tight money might have helped cause this — and that was their main outlet. And high interest rates elsewhere denied them the money they needed to work with.

In September, Uncle Sam offered some relief by putting a lid on rates. The savings associations came off well, or at least in a better position than they had been in. Their rates were pegged near the top.

Commercial banks, for example, can give only 4 per cent interest on passbook savings. The savings associations, however, can give 4 1/4 per cent. And on savings certificates they can offer 5 1/4 per cent.

This, said the Federal Home Loan Bank Board, which supervises the associations, would help "stabilize the situation — prevent any further bleeding."

"The savings associations now feel that blood might be spilled — that Uncle Sam might offer so attractive a rate to lenders that the associations will be right back where they were."

Democrat Pick-ups

"Come on out and play astrology with me," a three-year-old boy said to his 15 year old sister.

They lived in another state and relatives from here, visiting there, were curious.

"What kind of a game is astrology?" his aunt questioned.

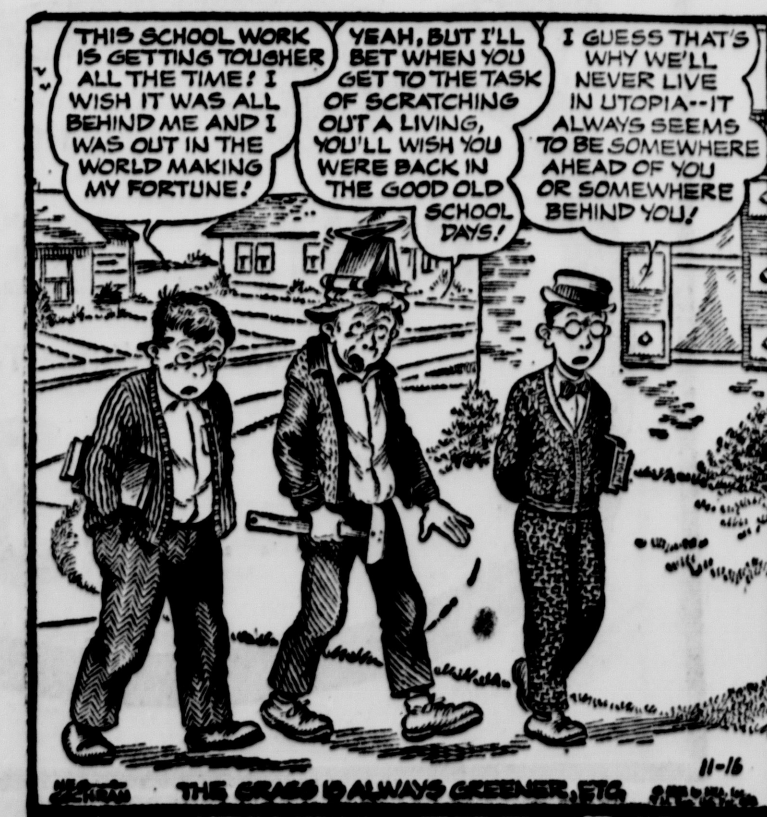

"Oh," explained his mother, "we took him to a baseball game held in the Astrodome and he thinks that is the name of the game."

The little fellow couldn't hit the ball and he couldn't throw it straight and the sister was running all the time trying to get the ball. Finally she came back in the house fairly exhausted. "It's awful to play astrology with a three-year-old," she said, dropping wearily down in a chair. — H. L.

Marshall Man
In Red Suit
For Protection

MARSHALL, Mo. (AP)—So that he won't be mistaken for a deer, Monroe Perkins wears a bright red pair of coveralls while working around his farm during the hunting season.

A friend kiddingly asked him at a meeting where he had parked his circus wagon. Perkins replied:

"It is healthy not to be mistaken for a deer."

In the first three days of the current weeklong open season in Missouri hunters killed 19,287 deer. At least one man has been shot by a hunter who thought he was firing a deer.

Collecting
Phono Records
For Servicemen

WOODROW, Colo. (AP)—A northeastern Colorado farmer earlier this year began figuring ways he might help U.S. servicemen in Viet Nam.

So Ronald Gilbert, 20, organized "Records for Viet Nam" with himself as president and appealed by letter to people to donate musical discs and phonographs to bring "American music enjoyment to the fighting men in Viet Nam."

Gilbert said today that more than 3,250 records and two record players have been received. Most of them are stored in a building on his father's farm, 14 miles south of Woodrow.

"I had kind of hoped to have enough records for at least 2,000 at each of five USO posts in South Viet Nam," Gilbert said.

Transporting the records hasn't been worked out, Gilbert said, but he is working with the Colorado Air National Guard which hopes to line up a cargo plane.

There was no immediate comment from the Colorado Air National Guard. However the Air Force in Washington issued a directive June 3 stopping flying civilian gifts of food and clothes to South Viet Nam.

Eddie Fisher Suit
Against Liz Taylor

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Singer Eddie Fisher has filed a divorce suit against Elizabeth Taylor, saying her 1964 Mexican divorce from him is invalid. He said he was not represented when her decree was granted.

The 34-year-old actress is now married to British actor Richard Burton.

Fisher, 38, once the husband of actress Debbie Reynolds, asked in the suit filed Monday that the court rule his marriage to Miss Taylor valid, then grant him a divorce, divide community property and determine who should have custody of Liza Todd Fisher, Miss Taylor's daughter by Todd.

New Air Base
Fight Ready
In Viet Nam

TUY HOA, South Viet Nam (AP)—This $50-million U.S. Air Force base began combat operations today 45 days ahead of schedule.

Gen. Hunter Harris, commander of the U.S. Air Force in the Pacific, said the new base will permit quicker air strikes in support of ground operations in the midsection of South Viet Nam.

Lt. Gen. William M. Momyer, chief of the 7th Air Force, said Tuy Hoa will "play a role in our increased flexibility in close support of ground forces" in the 2nd and 3rd Corps areas, which have seen some of the hardest fighting in the war.

Harris, Momyer and other Air Force and Vietnamese officials witnessed the landing of the first F100 Super Sabre Jet fighter-bombers on the 3,470-foot runway.

A 10,000-foot runway—capable of handling the nation's heaviest bombers—will be completed by May along with the rest of the base.

Leading his squadron in was Lt. Col. Alan Wockenfuss of Webster, S.D. He has been in Viet Nam for seven months.

Wockenfuss and the 18 planes of the 380th Tactical Fighter Squadron were fresh from strikes against the Viet Cong in a number of sectors, including the battle of Tay Ninh Province.

The base still is little more than an air strip amid wide expanses of brown sand along the shore of the South China Sea, some 235 miles northeast of Saigon.

Plans Retirement After Court Martial

TREASURE ISLAND, Calif. (AP)—Capt. Archie Kuntze plans to retire from the Navy following his conviction by a court-martial on three counts of misconduct involving a young Chinese beauty in Viet Nam.

The board that found him guilty Monday cleared him of three other general and 15 specific charges. He headed the $60-million Saigon supply depot before the Army took it over last May.

The board sentenced Kuntze to a reprimand and a loss of 100 numbers on the promotion priority list for captains. He could have received 32 months hard labor, dismissal from the service and loss of pay and allowances.

A decorated veteran of 24 years service, Kuntze said at a news conference that he will retire before the end of the year after surgery for an old leg injury. He is eligible for a $700 monthly pension.

The board of three admirals

lived with Jannie Suen, 26, in his official quarters, allowed her to use a government vehicle and imported 250 yards of cloth by government plane for personal use. She has vanished.
